

The 1962

Yearbook

THE 1962 FIELDCREST
Fieldale High School
Fieldale, Virginia
Volume 22

What'd We Do in '62?

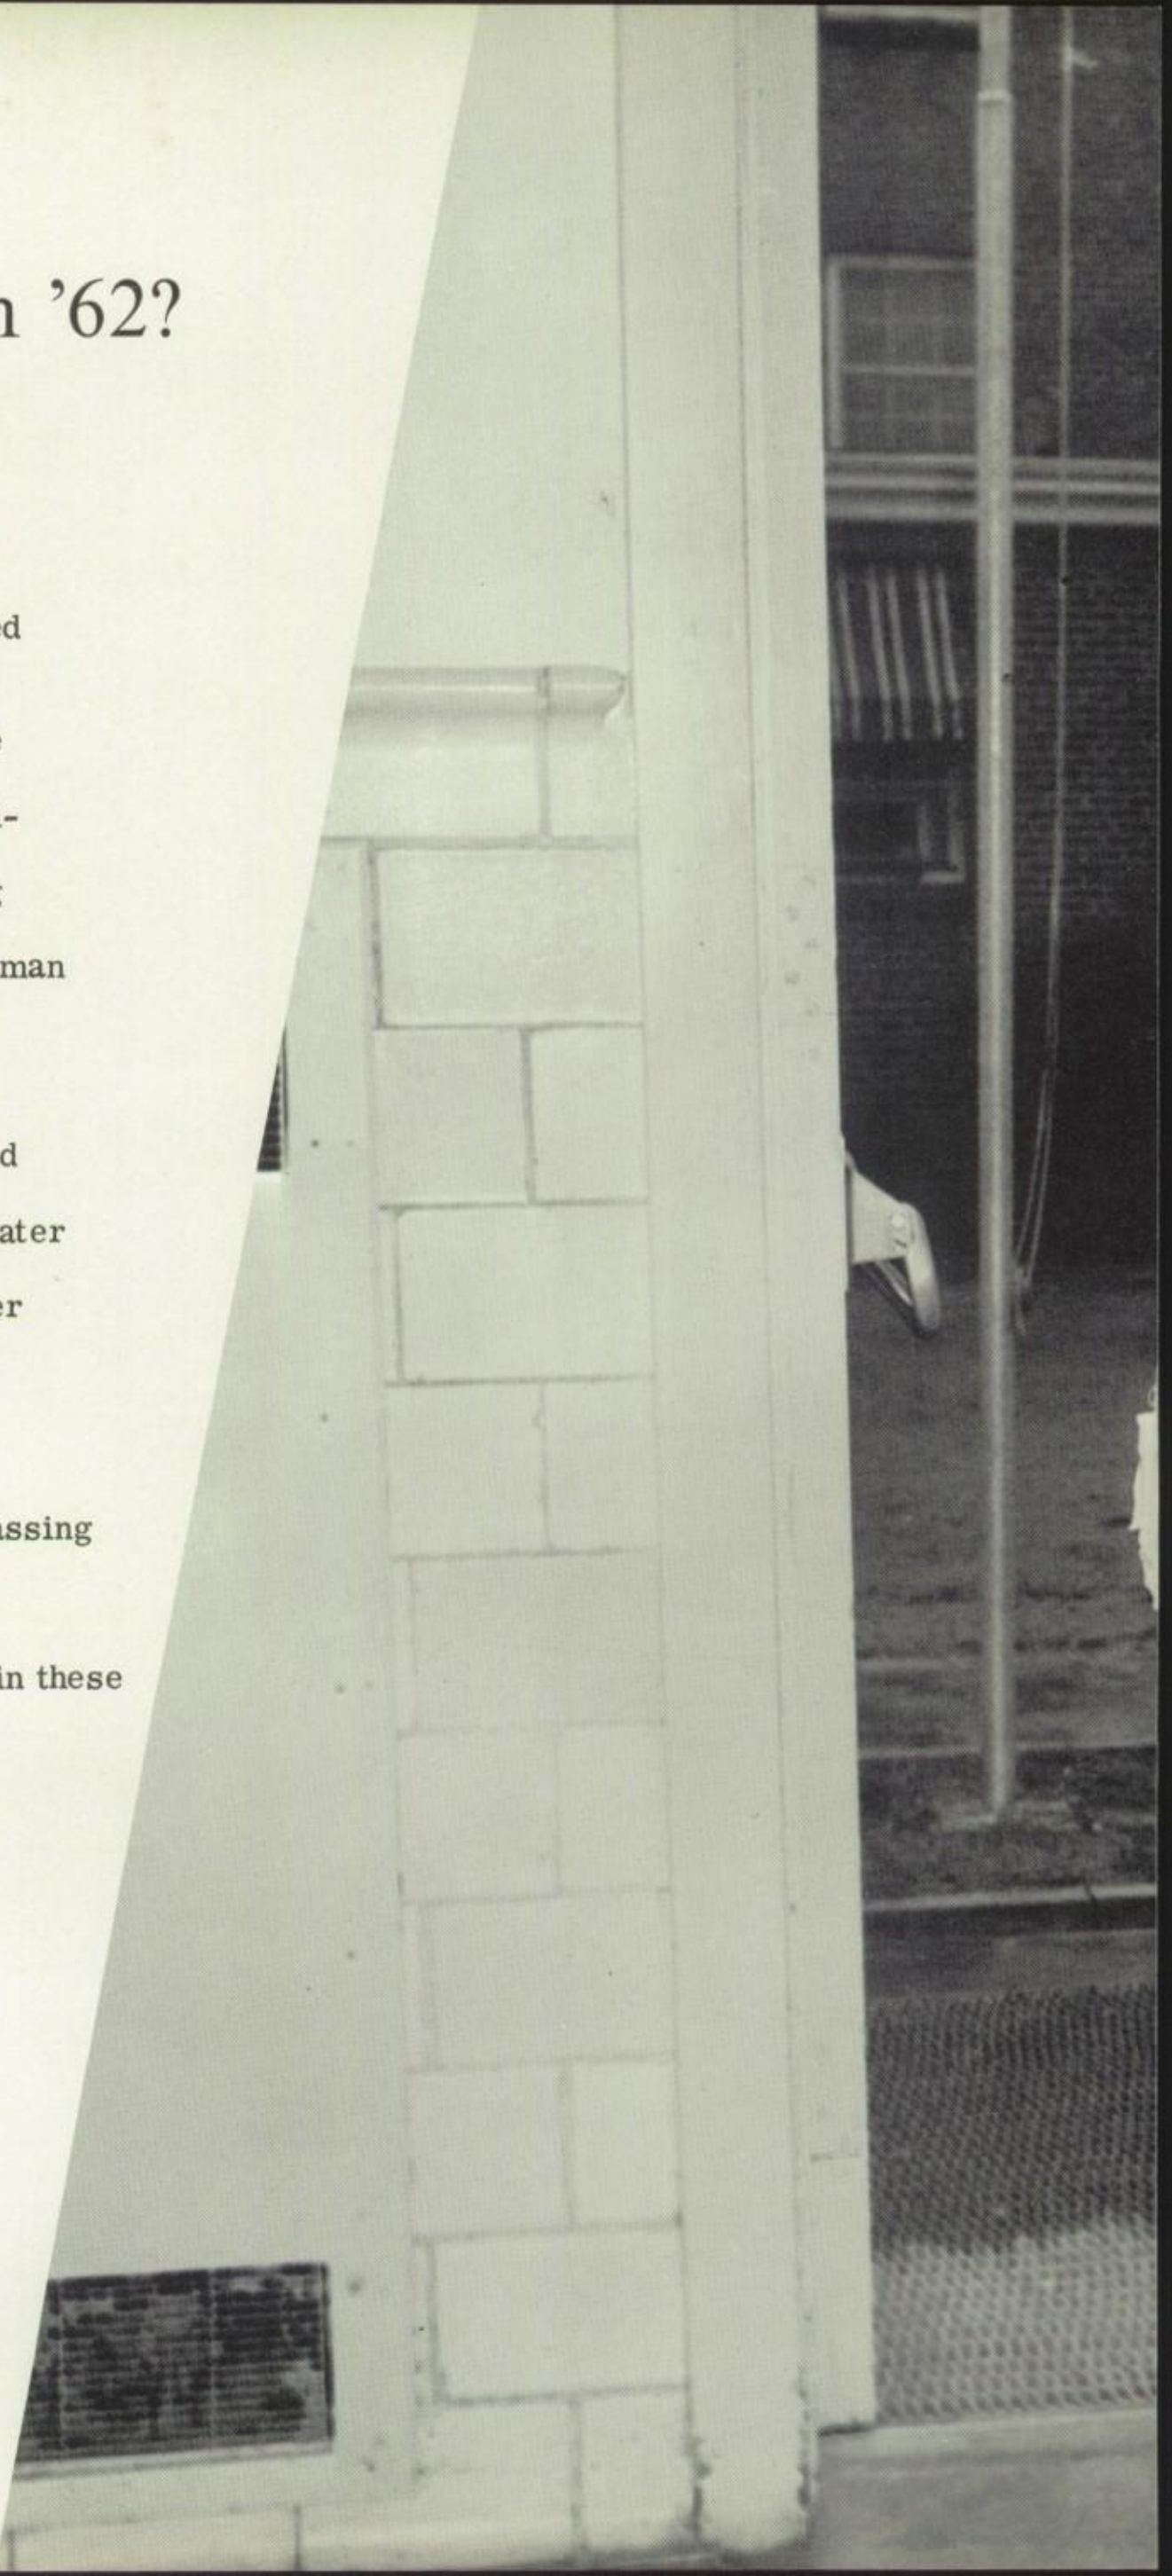

We opened the door to a fresh,
new year
On the first day of school at Fieldale High.
We gained new friends and
mem'ries dear
As days of work and play passed by.

New courses and challenges we met in our stride,
We joined new clubs and organizations.
With friends and faculty willing to guide,
We learned to practice good human relations.

Sports taught us loyalty to the team
Through sharing the victory and the defeat,
And we learned a lesson of greater esteem,
Without honor no victory is ever complete.

So the days marched by as a passing parade,
Now, lest the memory of those moments fade,
The FIELDCREST recaptures in these pages for you
Those things we did in the year '62.

We Dedicate

The 1962 FIELDCREST to you . . .

MR. J. ALFRED STEGALL, our policeman friend.

Each morning your friendly nod or gesture of hand sees us safely across the street as we go to school. Then at noon, after school, and during all school and community activities you are there to help see that all goes well. Many times you offer us constructive criticism, and at other times you allow us the privilege of being prankish with you.

We strongly feel your genuine interest in the wholesome development of the young people of our town. Therefore, by this dedication, we would like to express our appreciation to you, Mr. Stegall, for your full and deep consciousness of your responsibility to our community and for your dedication to the position which you fulfill.

While waiting for the bus after school, a group of boys enjoy a chat with Mr. Stegall.

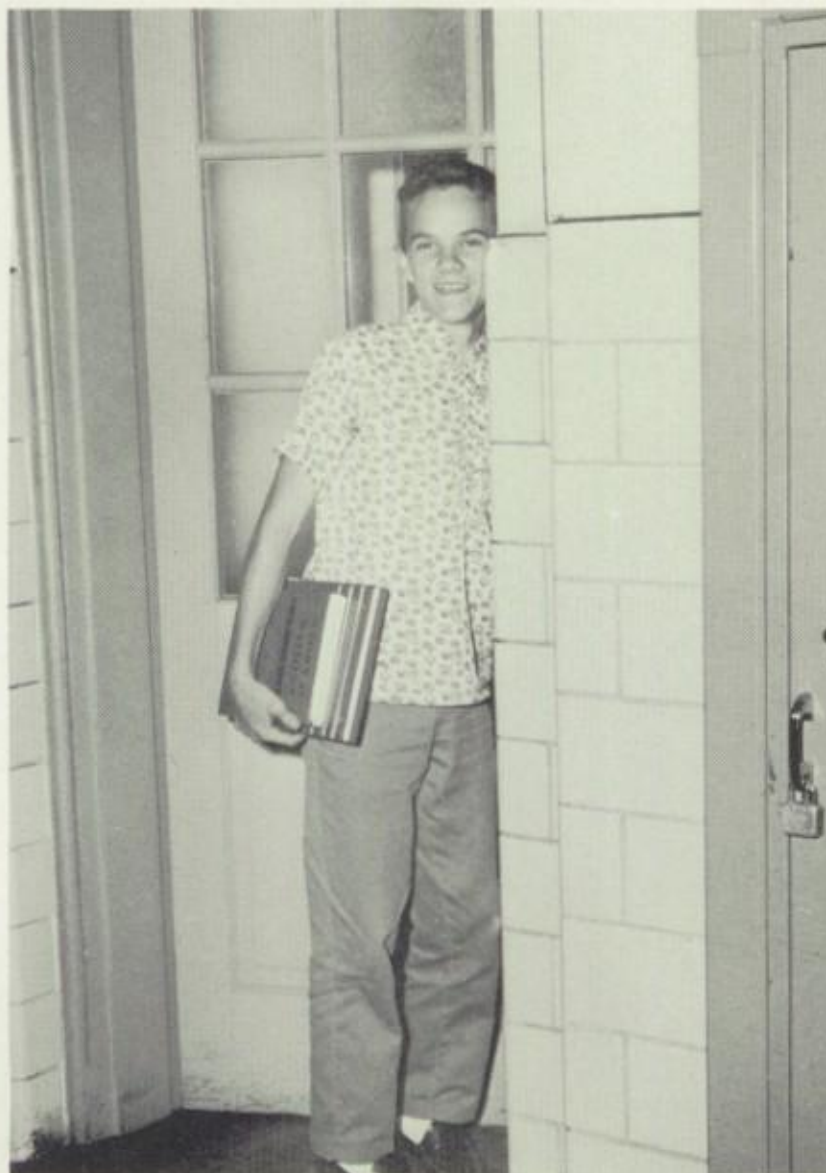

Loaded down with books on the opening day of school, Carol Smith and Jimmy Joyce are ready to start the new school year off with a bang.

Remember '62?

It Was a Year Devoted to Study, Activities, and Fun

With a grin that has a little dread behind it because of being tardy, Emory Smith opens the door to math class a few seconds after the bell rang.

Shelby Isley and Rebecca Prillaman gab with Mrs. Eanes, the teacher on duty, while waiting for the bus.

After stern questioning, Mr. Cassady writes absentee slips for students following their absence so that they may be admitted to classes.

Adding a little bit of mischief to the daily routine, Paul Jones closes the door on Valorie Dodson's head as she searches in her locker for her misplaced notebook.

Ronnie Brown makes three steps at a time while heading for the cafeteria in order to be one of the first in line for lunch.

Everyday at lunch and before and after school, the Community Center steps are filled with boys discussing the big game coming up, the Saturday night Sock Hop, or just plain enjoying one another's company.

No one would have the slightest reason to even suspect that Jimmy Crawford, Nancy Hancock, Rebecca Prillaman, and Billy Lawson are the least bit proud of their newly acquired class rings.

Seniors Exhibit Pride in Becoming Seniors

Setting a new tradition this year, the seniors began marching down the aisles before assembly instead of marching in from the side doors of the auditorium. Jimmy Merriman, Aldah Meyers, Wanda Warden and Marie Lawrence, with obvious pride of being a senior, make their way to their seats.

To show their ability and talents in dramatics, the seniors presented "Letters to Lucerne." Fran Dalton and Marie Stegall practice their lines while other members of the cast look on.

Work and Fun Combine in School Activities

Led by drum majorette Margie Barnard, the pompon girls practice their routines before the Christmas parade.

Practicing for hours at a time, the basketball team gets in shape for the season. During these months the gymnasium is a favorite hangout.

Working together to decide on the aims and objectives of the SCA for the year are the Student Council officers, Judy Ramsey, Aubrey Price, Ronnie Baldwin, Mrs. Eanes, Rebecca Prillaman, and Mary Jane Lawless.

Linda Hagood, Sammy Venable, and Harriett Martin are among the group of juniors who are put through the test during Beta Club initiations.

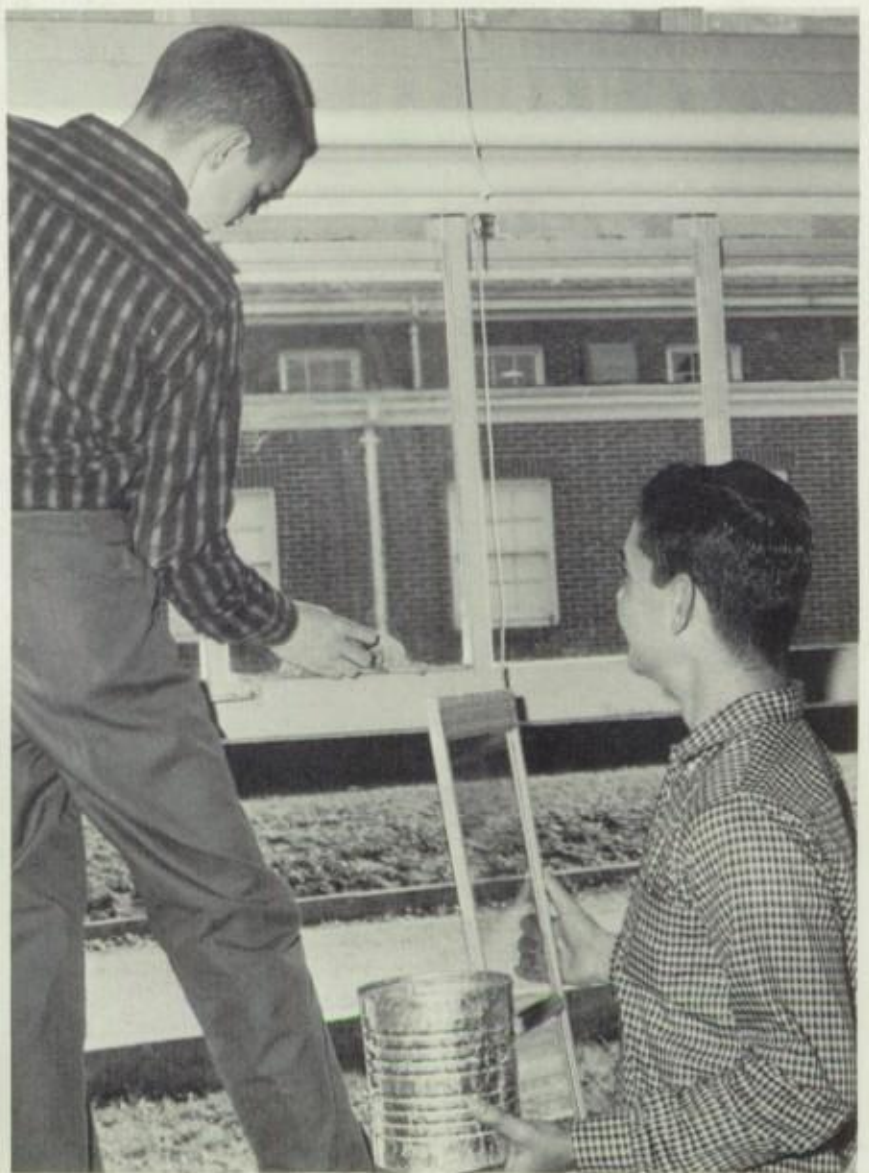

Each Day Presents Old and New Experiences

Regular visits to the post office are an important part of each student's day. Either before school, at noon, or after school, students can be seen going to check the mail.

Keeping the school neat and clean is everyone's job all year long. Terrell O'Dell and Larry Hancock are the window cleaners on this day.

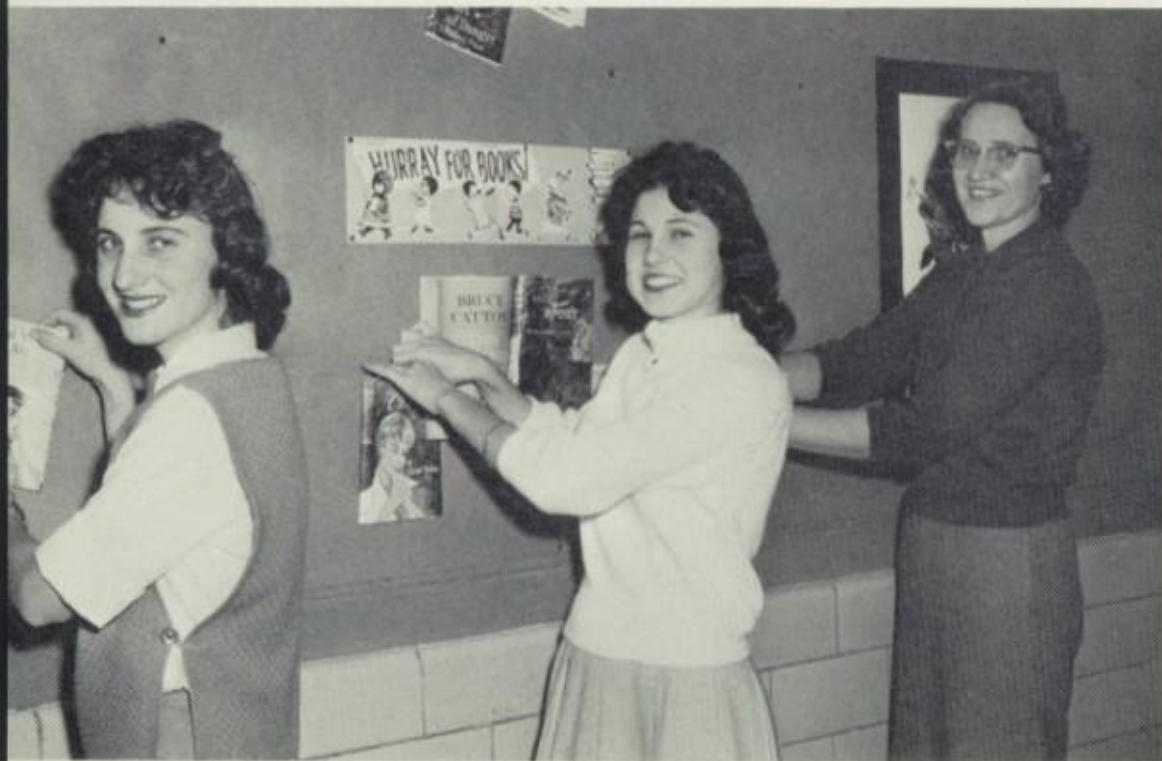

Marie Stegall really doesn't have two right arms. It was just a part of her act in presenting her candidate, Mary Jane Lawless, for the SCA presidency.

Since the main purpose of school is to acquire knowledge, most of our time is spent in classes. Miss Knight gives instructions to her government class before giving a test.

Hard Work and Study Are Part of Everyday

Margie Barnard pauses a few minutes before curtain time for complete concentration on her lines in the senior play, "Letters to Lucerne."

Connie Shelton, Karen Moran, and the librarian, Miss Elrod, obligingly turn and smile for the camera while decorating the bulletin board in the main hall.

Attractive decorations, lovely formals, genial conversation, and a good dinner characterize the junior-senior banquet at The Hut.

Junior-Senior Is Social Highlight of '62

Taking full advantage of the music provided at the prom following the banquet are Jeanie Barnes, Margie Barnard, Jerry Mize, Doug Riddle, Dillard Norman, and Fran Dalton.

Annals Come and Thoughts Turn to Summer

Awards day creates excitement throughout the whole school. A highlight of this day is the presentation of the yearbook to honor students, the library, and others. Miss Elrod, the librarian, receives a copy from Irene Hedgecock.

One of the closing events of the school year is the Annual Signing Party at which time everybody wants everybody else to sign his book. Jimmy Curry, Wanda Warden, Judy Simons, Bill Morton, and Donnie Shelton enjoy reading the "nice things" written to them in their annuals.

Along toward the end of May, Rita Kasey and Shirley Bryant are looking forward to the end of school work and to the beginning of another summer of fun at the swimming pool.

College Plans, Exams, and Graduation End '62

Making plans for college is important to Mike Fulcher and Donna Clark as they talk with the guidance counselor, Mrs. Ross.

Preparations for examinations is a "must," and to find peace and quiet many resort to the library.

Because they have reached their long-sought goal, seniors are perfect examples of happiness and pride. Bill Morton, Mary Jane Lawless, Billy Lawson, Mary Ann Gusler, Jimmy Merriman, and Jeannette Setliff are no exceptions as they don their robes for graduation night.

In Memoriam

Lou Ellen Atkins

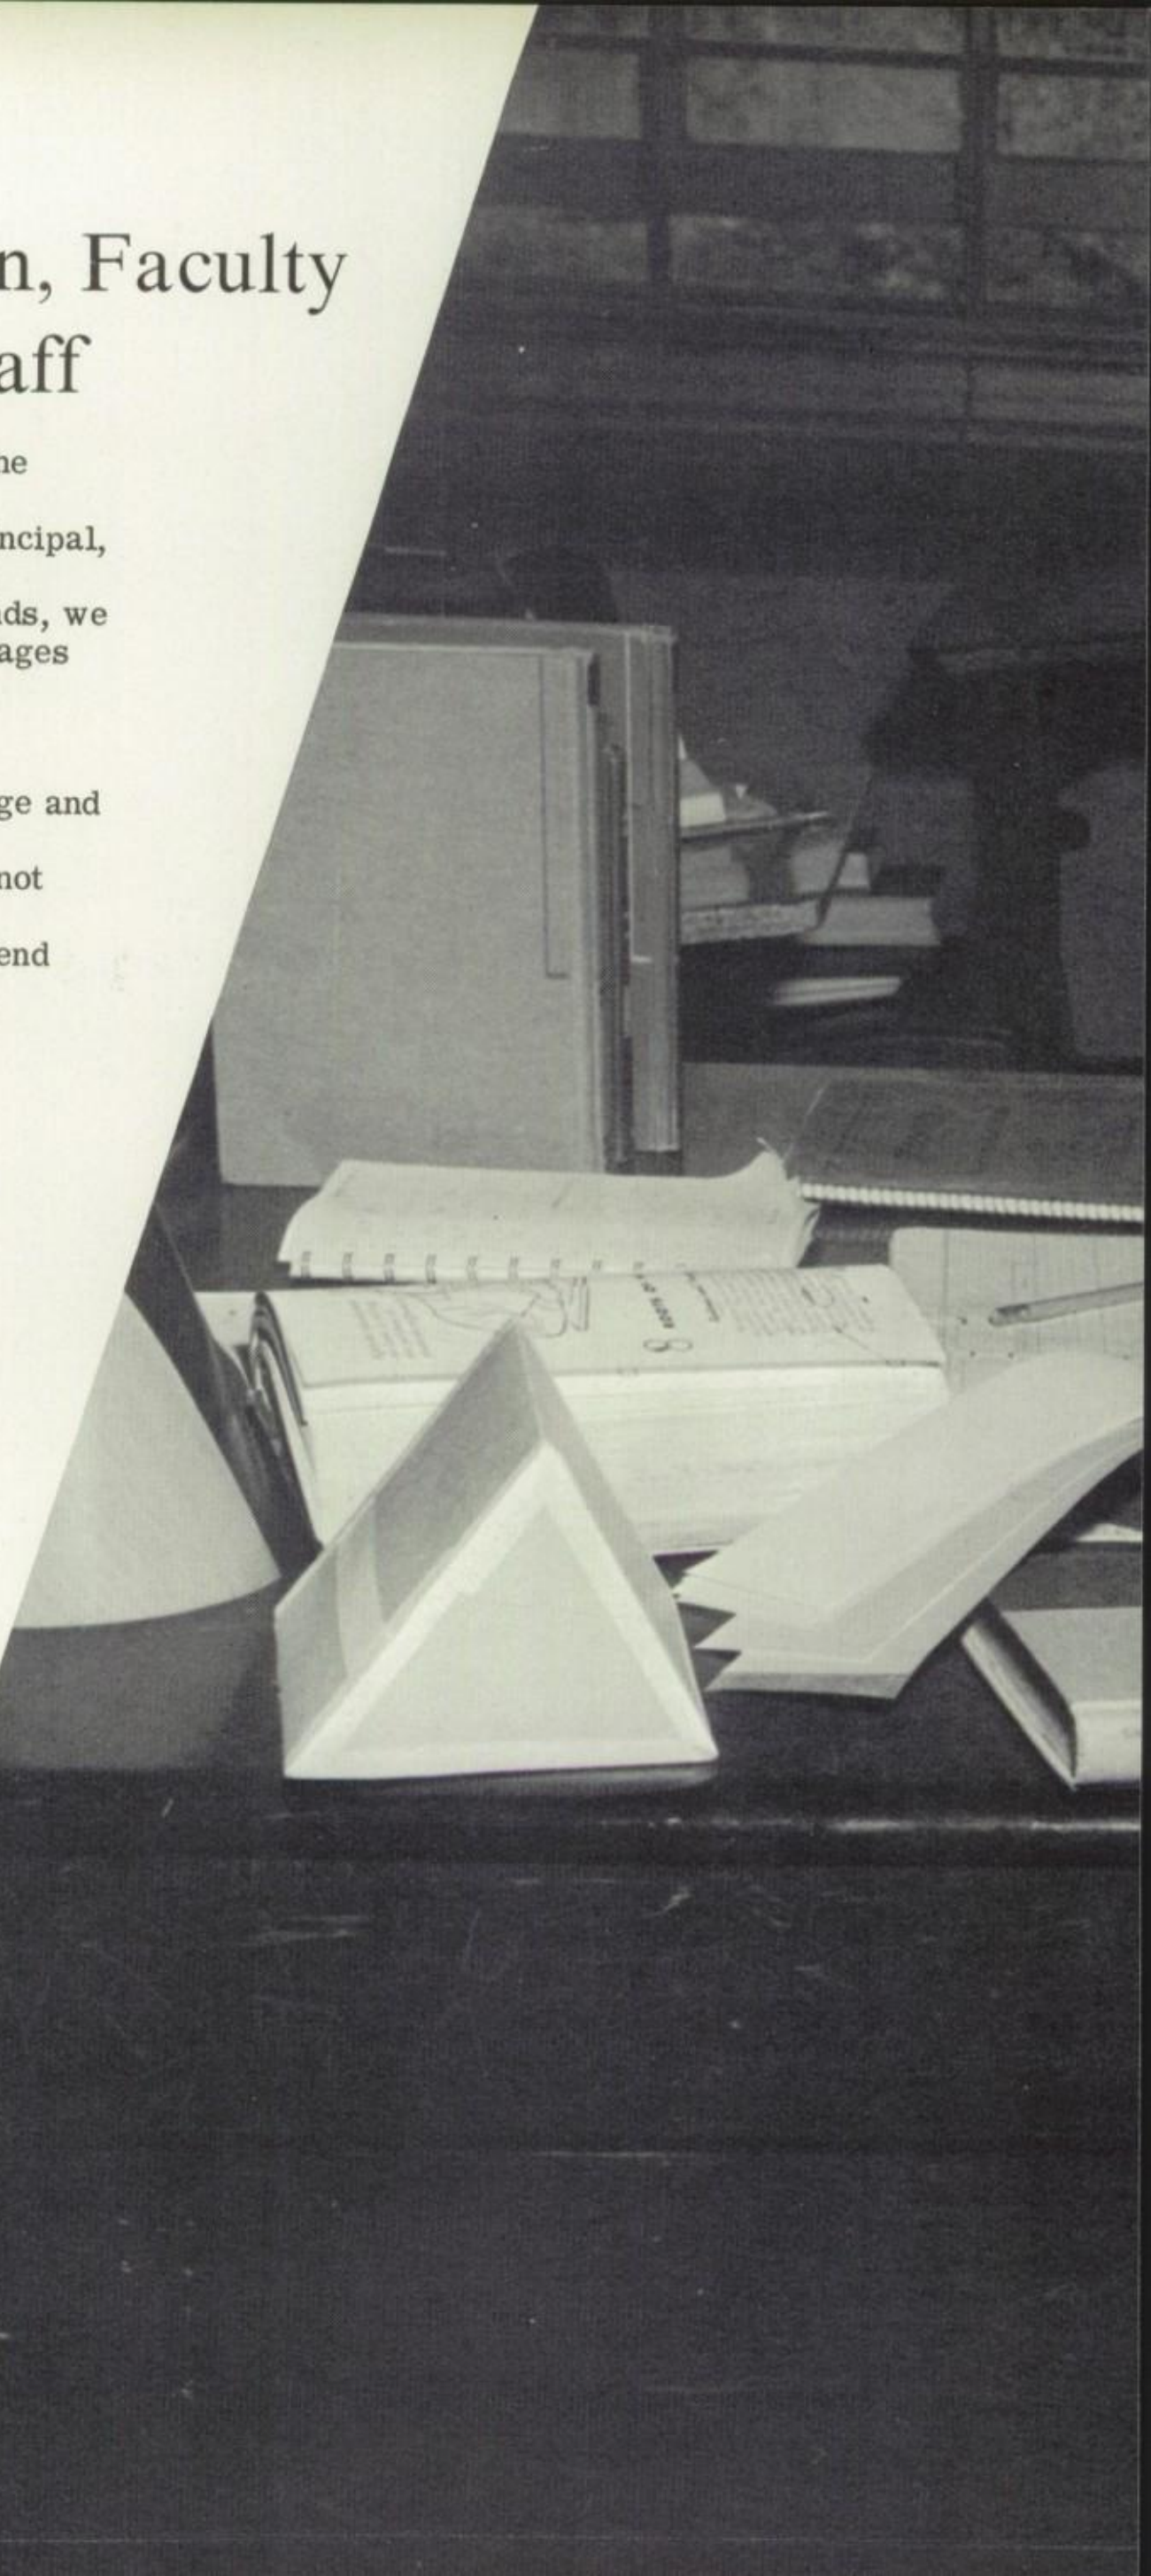

1943-1961

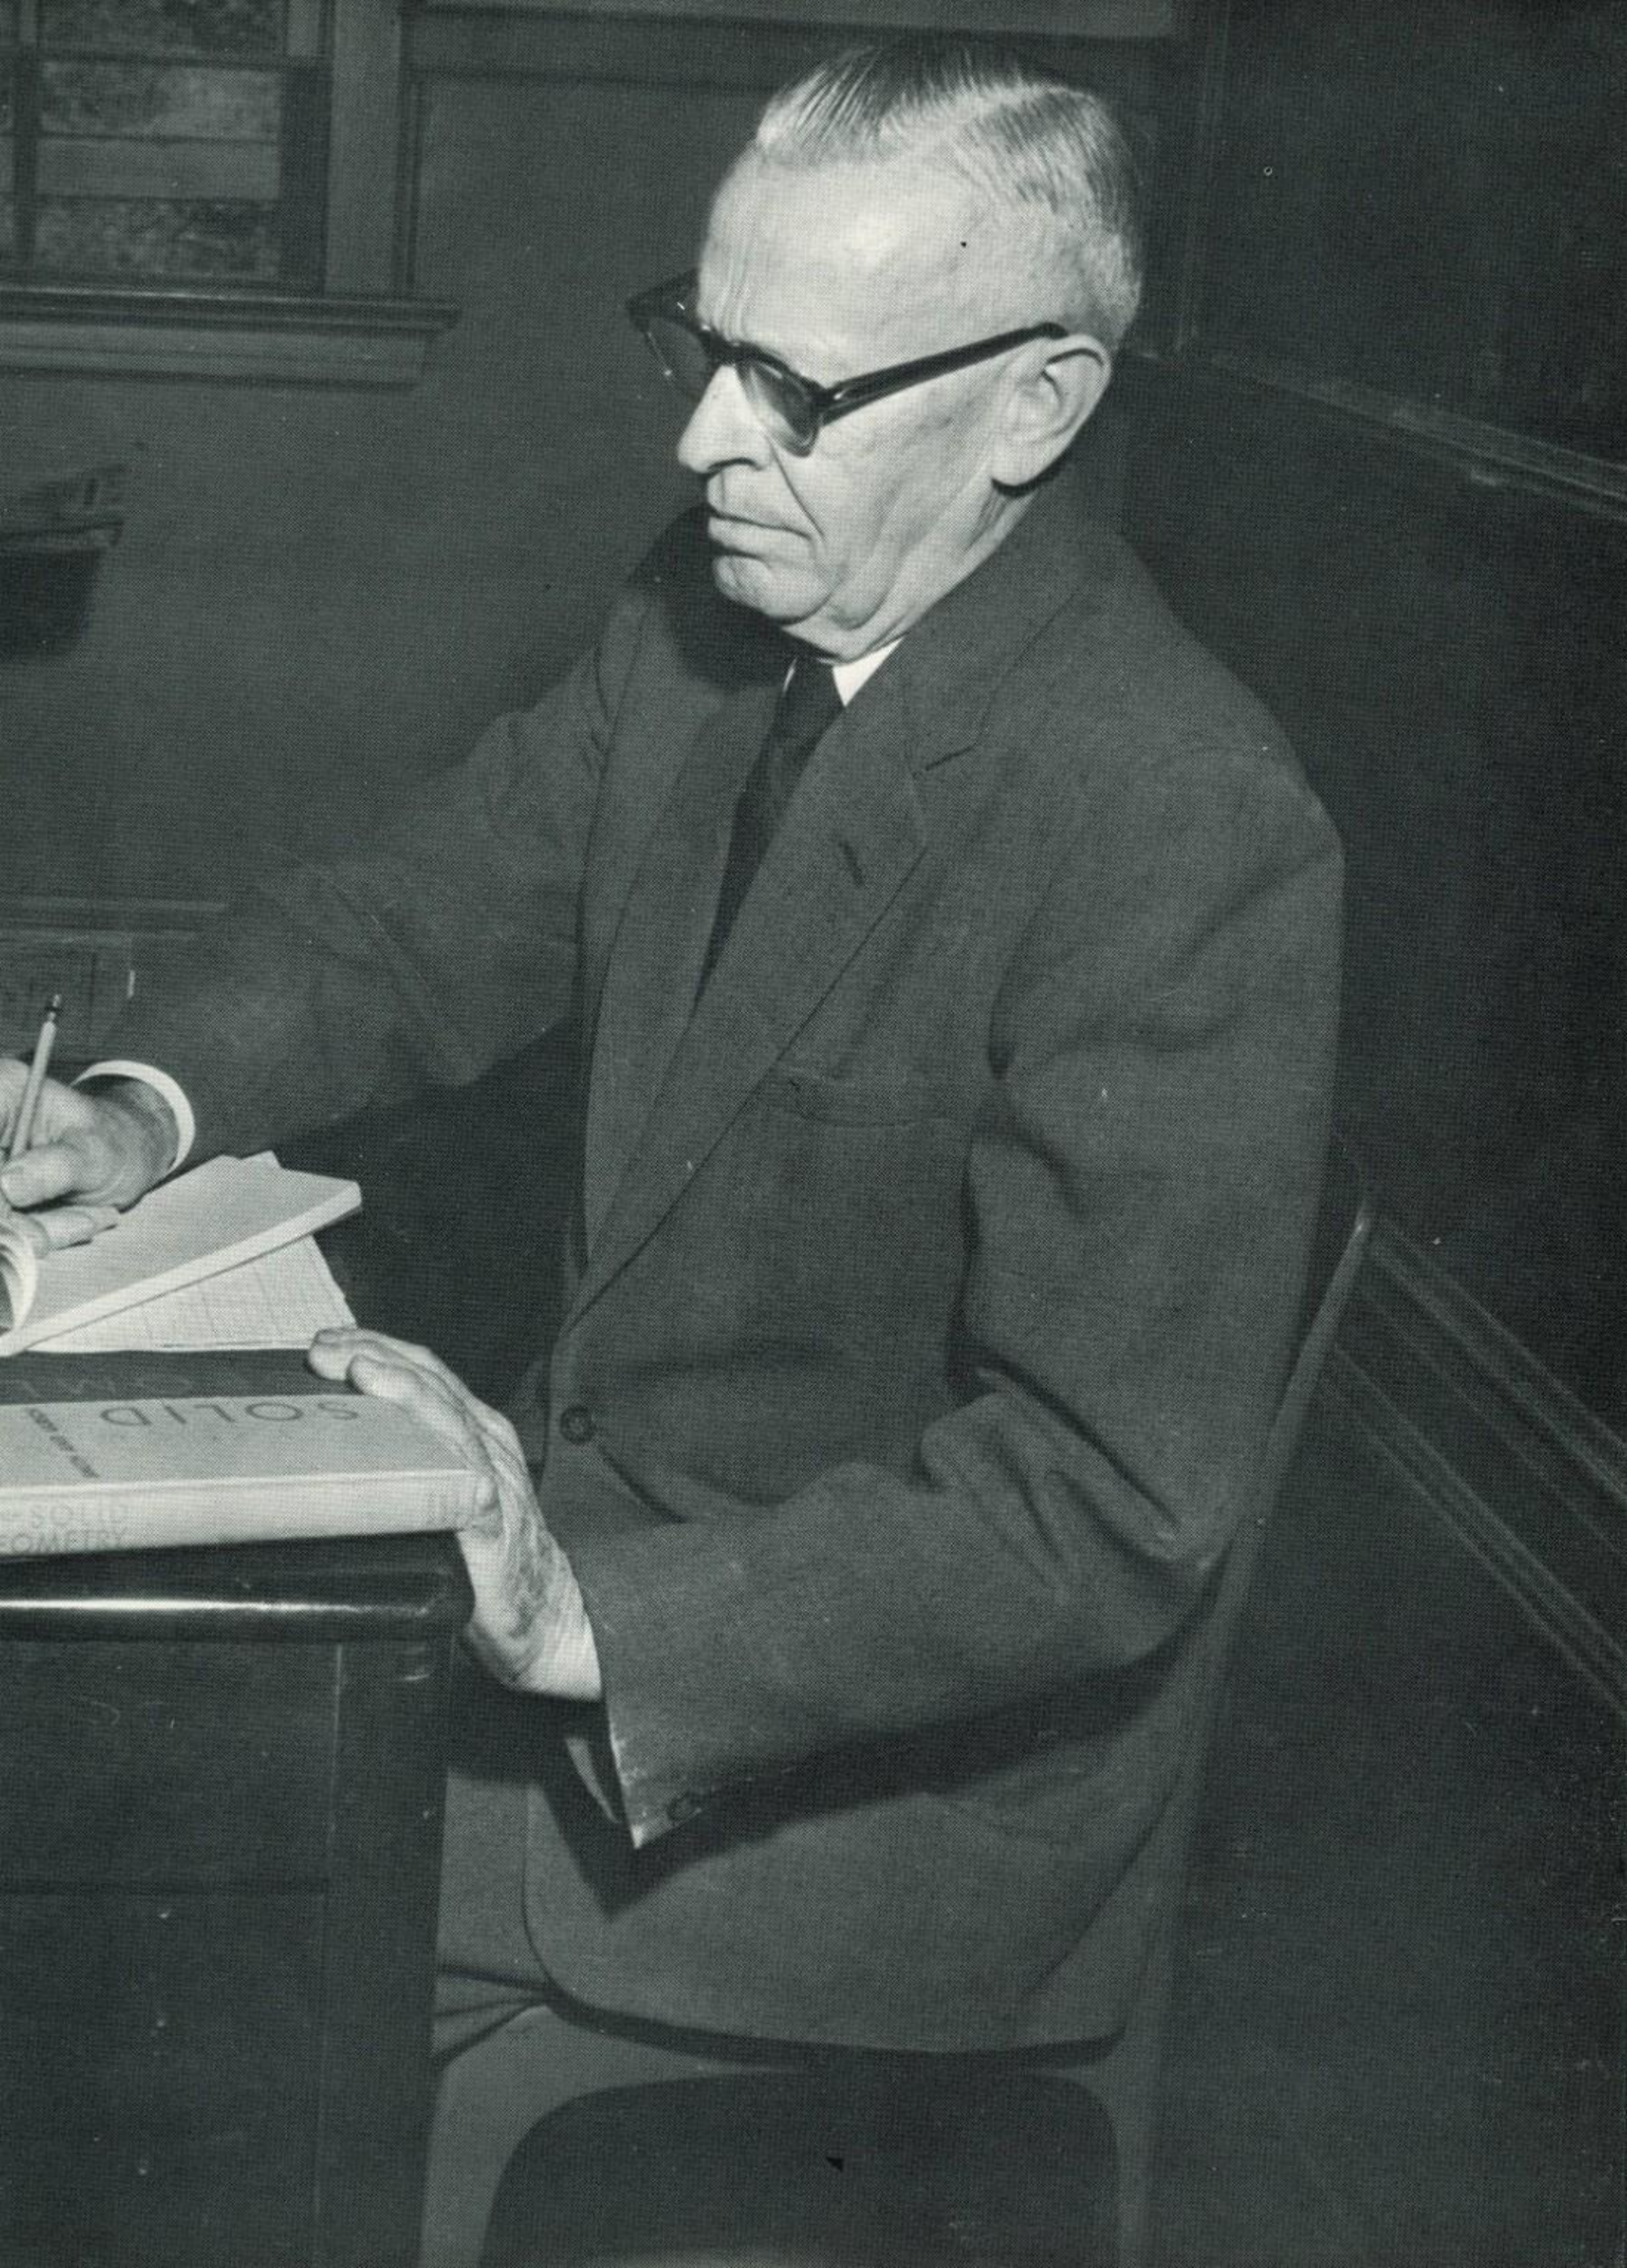

She had a short life, but it was one filled with gentleness and goodness. She always showed her kind nature in the way she treated those who knew her. She will live long in the memories of her fellow students and the faculty of Fieldale High School.

Administration, Faculty and Staff

Presented to you on the following pages,
Are our teachers, principal,
and administration.
With their guiding hands, we work through the stages
Of learning to build a better nation.

Our teachers encourage and understand;
Each one is a friend, not a foe-
Ready and willing to lend a hand,
To help us in wisdom
to grow.

Administration Guides Our Educational Growth

Mr. J. Foster Hollifield
Superintendent
Henry County Schools

Shouldering the responsibility of our educational growth is the administrative staff of our school. By their keen insight, the needs of our school are provided. All have been connected with the school system for many years. They have had rich experiences in every phase of school management.

Mr. Hollifield has been superintendent for twenty-nine years. Mr. Rives was director of instruction for thirteen years and also serves in that capacity at present. Formerly, he was a principal of Fieldale High for nine years. Mr. Switzer was principal of Ridgeway Elementary for thirteen years. Mr. Taylor has represented our school district on the School Board for eight years. Mrs. Martin was a former teacher in the county for seven years and has served as supervisor for five years.

Mr. Branch K. Rives
Assistant Superintendent
Henry County Schools

Mr. R. L. Taylor
Henry County School Board
Horsepasture District

Mr. W. C. Sweitzer
Visiting Teacher

Mrs. Irene Martin
Supervisor of Instruction
Henry County Schools

Mr. Ronald L. Iler
Principal

Mrs. Inez Stultz
Secretary to the Principal

Throughout the past year as principal of Fieldale High School, Mr. Ronald Iler has had much to do with what we did in '62. Of most importance to us was his constant challenge for us to grasp every opportunity afforded us to secure a well-grounded basic high school education. His was a conscientious interest in seeing that we prepare ourselves in knowledge, attitude, and citizenship so that we may experience a more satisfying future life.

Mr. Iler has completed his fourth year as principal; previously he was industrial arts teacher for ten years at Fieldale High. He received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from Western Kentucky State College and has taken additional work at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Ralph Edward Rakes: B.A., Elon College; graduate work, University of Virginia; assistant principal of Fieldale High School; varsity basketball coach.

Miss Mona Bishop: secretary to assistant principal.

Mr. Ernest Bowman: B.S., Madison College; other colleges attended, Bridgewater College, Columbia University, Duke University, University of Virginia; teaches plane geometry and eighth and ninth grade math; sponsors an eighth grade homeroom.

Mr. James Cassady: B.S., Concord College; other college, Ferrum Jr. College; teaches, Jr. and Sr. English and eighth grade civics; in charge of pupil accounting; co-sponsors S.C.A.

Faculty Challenges Students to Excel

Mr. William Diehl: B.S., Concord College; teaches driver education.

Miss Irene Elrod: B.A., Emory and Henry College; other colleges attended, Radford College, Northwestern University; librarian; sponsors Library Club and the Visual Aids Club.

Mrs. Delores Eanes: B.S., Longwood College; graduate work, Madison College; teaches eighth grade science; co-sponsor of S.C.A.; sponsors a Junior homeroom.

Mr. Herbert Fitzell: B.S., Westfield State Teachers College, Mass.; teaches freshman and sophomore English.

They Help Us Organize Our Outside Activities

Members of the faculty enjoying the evening at the Junior-Senior Prom are Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Rives, Mrs. Stultz, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Iler.

Mrs. Linda Frazier: B.S., Radford College; teaches eighth grade, freshman, and sophomore health and physical education, driver education, and first aid; co-sponsors Boosters' Club.

Mrs. Jean Fuller, B.S., Longwood College; M.A., University of Virginia; other college attended, V.P. I.; teaches U.S. history, freshman and senior English; sponsors a freshman homeroom and Beta Club.

Miss Patricia Johnson: B.S., Bridgewater College; other college attended, Lynchburg College; teaches eighth grade history, geography, and Spanish; sponsors an eighth grade homeroom and Spanish Club.

Miss Marie Knight: B.S., Radford College; graduate work, University of North Carolina; teaches American government, world history; sponsors a junior homeroom, Dramatic Club, senior play, and the one-act play.

Mr. Thomas Martin: B.S., V.P.I.; teaches eighth grade math and distributive education; sponsors the D.E. Club and a tenth grade homeroom.

Mr. Graham Merritt: B.A., Carolina College; attended Mt. Olive Jr. College; teaches architectural drawing, general shop, mechanical drawing; sponsors Jr. and Sr. Industrial Arts Clubs.

Miss Frances Mithcell: B.A., Berea College, Kentucky; other college attended, Spartansburg Jr. College; teaches Latin I and II and geography; sponsors the Latin Club and tenth grade homeroom.

Mrs. Frances Rives: B.S., Madison College; other college attended, U. Va. and University of Tennessee; teaches eighth grade English; sponsors eighth grade homeroom.

Progress Is Object of Teachers' Efforts

Mrs. Mary Robertson: B.S., Radford College; teaches home economics; sponsors Future Homemakers of America.

Mrs. Zilla Ross: B.S., Radford College; graduate work, U. Va., other college attended, Mary Washington College; guidance director; sponsors Future Teachers of America.

Mr. Jerry Slaughter: B.S., Elon College; teaches boys' physical education classes; junior varsity basketball coach, assistant varsity coach; sponsors Boosters' Club.

Mr. Hubert Z. Smith: A.B., Randolph Macon College; teaches algebra I and II, solid geometry, trigonometry, and math 9; sponsors a tenth grade homeroom.

They Enjoy Our Social Functions With Us

Mr. Eddie Rakes is really warming up to the "rock 'n roll" with Sandra Jones at the Junior-Senior Prom. The group gathered around are having as much fun watching as he is dancing.

Mrs. Mary Taylor: B.A., Woman's College of U. N. C.; other college attended, Catawba; teaches chemistry, biology, and eighth grade science; co-sponsors senior class.

Miss Maxine Thomas: B.S., Western Carolina College; teaches general business and typing I; sponsors a ninth grade homeroom and the Future Business Leaders of America.

Miss Nan Thompson: B.S., Mary Washington College; other colleges attended, Madison, Radford, and U. Va.; teaches shorthand I and II, typing II, and bookkeeping; co-sponsors senior class and sponsor of the FIELDCREST.

Mr. Paul Zimmerman: University of Pittsburgh and Madison College; directs the band and the choral music group; teaches music appreciation; sponsors the Music Study Club and the Pompon Girls.

Lunch, Announcements, and Checking the Mail Box Are All Part of the Daily Routine

Mrs. Rives and Mrs. Frazier check their mailboxes in the principal's office before beginning their duties for the day.

"May I have your attention, please," are familiar words to the students and faculty as Mr. Iler makes the morning announcements during homeroom period.

Other Staff Members Perform Various Jobs

Well-balanced and appetizing lunches are prepared by the cafeteria staff. The manager of the cafeteria is Mrs. Mary Dodson. Her assistants, seated from left to right, are Joan Crawford, Mrs. Faye Davidson, Mrs. Pearl Gordon, Mrs. Hazel Miles; standing, Mrs. Gertrude Pace, Mrs. Evelyn Crawford, Mrs. Martha Pace, and Mrs. Dodson.

Seeing us safely to and from school are our bus drivers, left to right, Mr. Baxter Thomas, Mrs. Faye Martin, Mr. James Cassell, Mr. J. D. Handy.

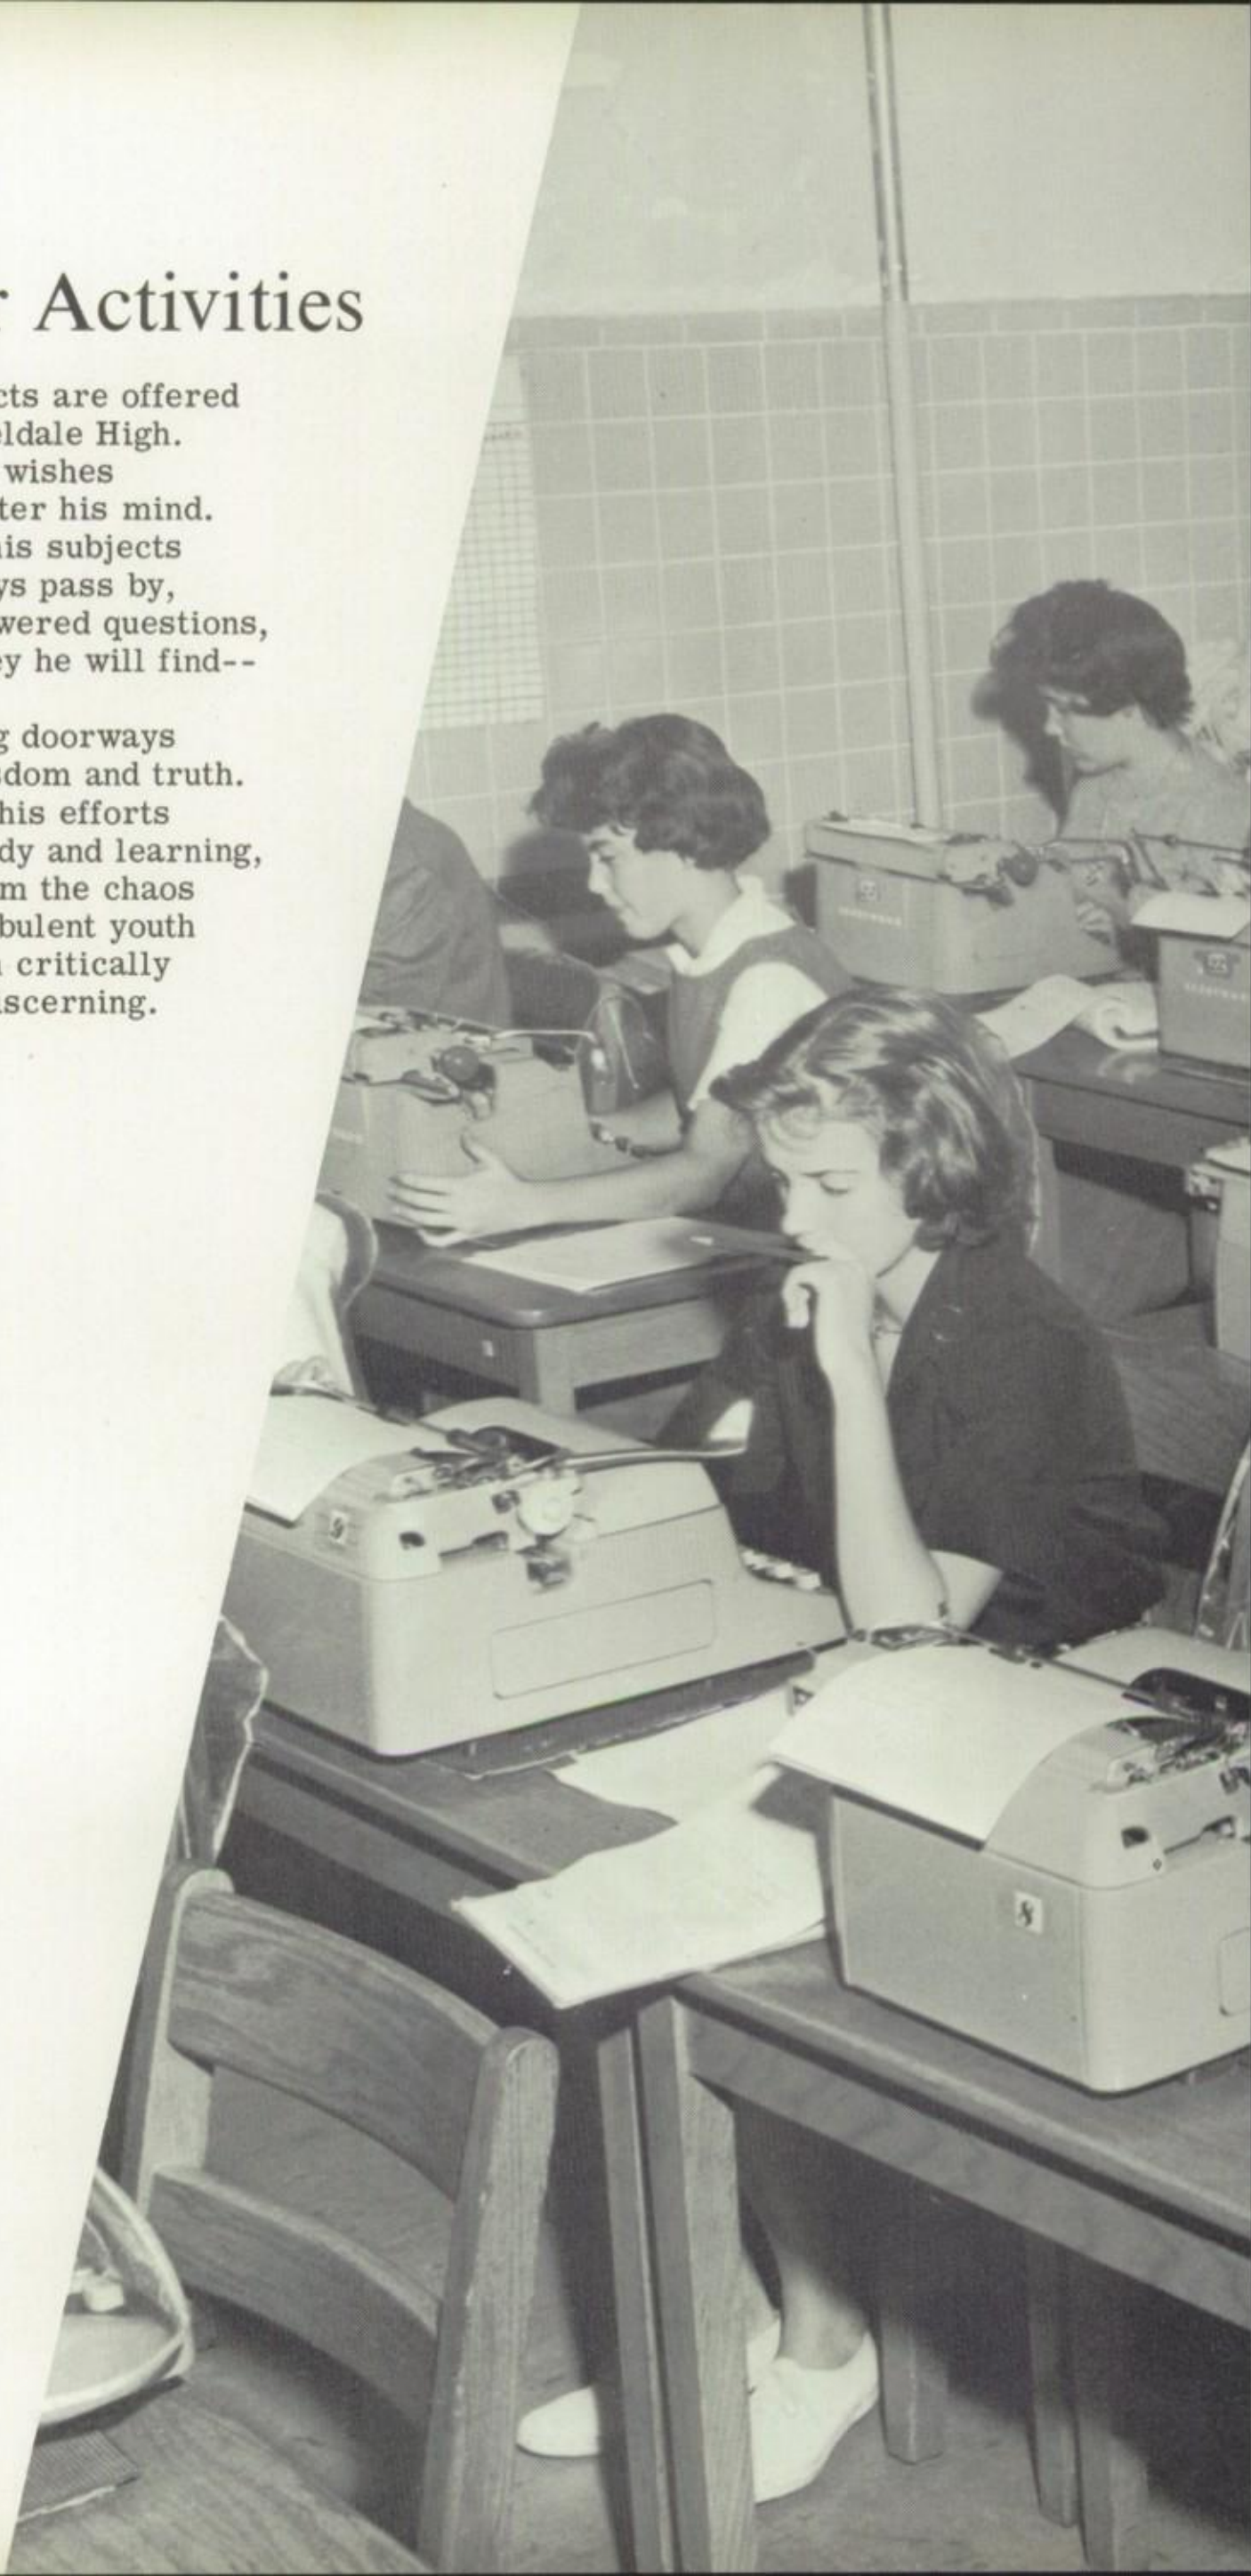

Our janitresses, Mary Hylton and Mary Agnew, have so many jobs to do, but they always keep our school clean and attractive.

Curricular Activities

Varied subjects are offered at Fieldale High.
Each student wishes
to better his mind.
He masters his subjects
as days pass by,
And to unanswered questions,
the key he will find--

For unlocking doorways to wisdom and truth.
Gained from his efforts
of study and learning,
He builds from the chaos
of turbulent youth
Thinking both critically and discerning.

Languages Promote Better Understanding of People

With foreign neighbors only hours away, language courses are an essential element of a student's education more than ever before.

English courses include the study of English grammar and literature. In order to communicate properly and effectively with others, students are urged to become proficient in the use of grammar. Through literature, students gain an appreciation of the works of famous authors of the past and present.

Foreign languages promote a better understanding of the past and present culture of other countries. Two years of Latin and two of Spanish are offered to meet the need of college-bound students.

Randolph Clark practices effective speaking before his eighth grade English class under the direction of Mrs. Rives.

While studying Shaw's "Pygmalion," Mrs. Fuller tries to help Fran Dalton with the cockney pronunciation as Mike Fulcher and Alan Brymer look on.

To improve their pronunciation in Spanish, Danny Brown and Paul Jones use the tape recorder under the supervision of Miss Johnson.

For Donna Hooker, declining a Latin noun requires help from Miss Mitchell. Marsha Balentine and Betty Lou Via, with back to camera, seem to be doing all right by themselves.

Leo Hundley, without the aid of Miss Johnson, determines the position of Laos in geography class.

Social Studies Delve into Past and Present

Through social studies, students gain a knowledge of the past. Because of this knowledge they have a better understanding of the present and are more able to intelligently cope with the problems of the future.

Courses are offered in world geography, world history, government, and U. S. history.

Class activities include reports, films, debates, and studies of charts, maps, and the globe.

Maps of ancient Europe are the topics of conversation between Miss Knight, Kitty Casey, and Connie Thornton in world history.

United States history classes, taught by Mrs. Fuller, find movies on World War II interesting.

In government class, Miss Knight emphasizes the importance of current events to Nancy Hancock, Betsy Merricks, Joy Spencer, and Eugene Ashburn.

Mathematical Instruction

Develops Thinking Powers

Mathematicians are in demand now more than at any other time in our country's history. Therefore, all students are required to take at least two years of math, and the more interested ones are urged to take the advanced classes.

All these courses lend themselves to developing the thinking and reasoning powers of students so that they may be better prepared to face the problems of everyday living and arrive at a satisfactory solution.

Courses are offered in arithmetic 8, algebra I and II, plane geometry, solid geometry, and trigonometry.

In solid geometry, Jimmy Minter, Mike Fulcher, Mary Jane Lawless, Mr. Smith, Donna Clark, Warren Hubbard, and Clarence Catron illustrate the intersection of planes and lines and their relationships.

Mr. Bowman explains a percentage problem to "Trish" Merriman and George Koger in general math class.

Mr. Smith emphasizes a point to the class as Phil Martin and Vivian Williams work an equation in algebra II.

In plane geometry class, Benny Lee Via shows Jetta Merricks the proper way to construct an isosceles triangle.

In Mrs. Eanes's eighth grade science class, the make-up of a bee hive is very interesting to Randolph Clark, Earl Anderson, Jimmy Crum, Dennis Akers, Wanda Horsely, and Bruce Young.

Science Prepares Us to Meet World Challenges

Knowledge is obtained through the use of a microscope in Mrs. Taylor's biology class. Robert Young sees things not possible by the naked eye.

Due to increased national and world interest, a new emphasis is being placed on science courses everywhere. Field-dale High is no exception. Students are introduced to the study of science in the eighth grade by four units of study: chemistry, biology, physics, and earth and space. Other courses offered for a full year to upperclassmen are biology and chemistry. These classes are intended to help students meet the challenges of our changing environment.

Mrs. Taylor prepares the equipment to be used in the next laboratory experiment as Diane Tilley, Patsy Hundley, and Mac Campbell look on.

Industrial Arts are Practical Courses

Whether a student plans to go to college or not, he will find industrial arts courses interesting and most useful. The courses offered are mechanical drawing, general shop, and machine woodwork. Mechanical drawing is a preparatory course for anyone planning to take engineering in college. The shop courses are designed to give the basic principles for a vocation in carpentry or for those who are interested in making things themselves.

Leon Cannaday and Jesse Jones operate the power saw in woodwork class.

During shop class, Mr. Merritt explains the relationship between different tools used in the class

Homemaking Classes

Improve Personal Living

Every hour of the day finds the students in the Home Economics Department busy learning the basic skills of homemaking. The first year classes learn about good grooming, sewing, clothing, cooking, home nursing, and family living. Second year classes study foods, woolen clothing, child care, and interior decorating. Food preservation, table service, advanced sewing, marriage, home planning, and money management make up the third year course. In fourth year Home Economics, the students learn more about the types of food. They study about clothing, etiquette, entertaining, furniture refinishing, and the construction of draperies.

Reports, scrapbooks, reference books, and actual experience help the students learn and enjoy the classes.

Mrs. Robertson makes suggestions for alterations on the dress which Dorothy Hall made as her project while taking sewing.

Lora Ann Compton and Jo Ann Tilley apply what they have learned about the care of a refrigerator.

Marlene Gregory illustrates the correct way to use the vacuum cleaner when cleaning upholstery.

Boys' gym class under the direction of Mr. Slaughter realizes how much fun gymnastics can be.

Physical Education Improves Co-ordination

Both the girls' and boys' physical education classes had a full schedule this year.

The girls' classes covered such activities as field and track events, basketball, volleyball, softball, and beginning and advanced tumbling. Each student was required to compile a notebook containing the mimeographed notes supplied by Mrs. Frazier and the pictures and drawings done by the student on each of the more important activities of the year.

The boys' physical education classes learned the rules and regulations of different games, including tumbling, basketball, softball, football, and soccer. Each class turned in special projects during the year. The eighth grade projects covered sports. First aid and drivers' education were the topics for the ninth grade projects. The tenth grade projects covered mostly health.

Joyce Zeigler enjoys taking driver's training, which is offered to sophomores of lawful age.

Gymnastics as well as outdoor sports are stressed in the girls' physical education classes.

Mr. Zimmerman tries to bring out the best of each voice in his choral music class.

Music Classes Create Culture and Pleasure

Music creates culture and provides pleasure for many--those who participate and those who listen. Students interested in music may take classes, in music appreciation, choral music, or band. The choral music group each year joins with other county groups in a combined concert. The band enters district and state band contests. Both groups always enjoy appreciative audiences when they present assembly programs for the student body.

Four of Mr. Zimmerman's music appreciation class, Jimmy Crawford, Mildred Byrd, Irene Hedgecock, and Connie Thornton, realize that there must be basic knowledge of music before one can really enjoy it.

At the beginning of the sixth period, Johnny Hollandsworth, Bobby Wickline, and Ronnie Brown assemble their instruments for band class.

Business Courses Train Students for Office Work

In bookkeeping class Peggy Dunford, Nancy Hancock, and Jimmy Jarrett learn how to use the automatic calculators and the adding machine.

Sue Setliff finds the copy amusing as she takes a timed writing in typing.

Even in this decade of automation, many young people need to be trained for office jobs. Trying to meet this need, Fieldale High offers courses in shorthand and transcription, bookkeeping, typing, and general business. These courses are designed to give the preparation needed by those students not going to college for a satisfactory entrance into employment. However, many college-bound students take typing for personal use.

Much of each shorthand period is spent in taking dictation from Miss Thompson as this first year shorthand class is doing.

Applying what he has learned in his D. E. class is "Sock" Merriman, who works as a part-time employee at Joyce's Drug Store.

Distributive Education Trains for Future Jobs

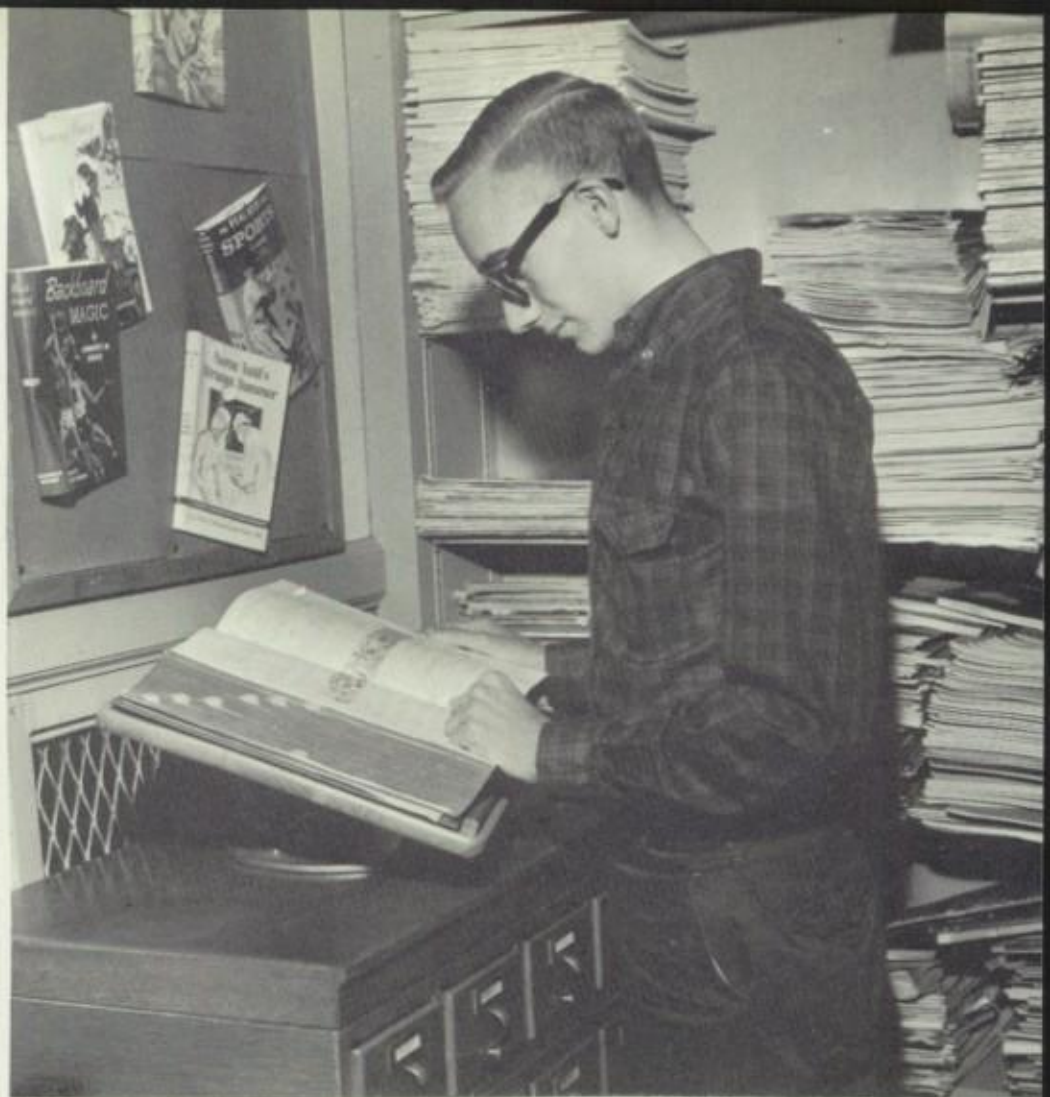

Familiar words in the distributive education class are buying, selling, merchandising, and advertising. The D. E. students study the basic skills in these things as well as stock keeping, displaying, and personnel. They attend school in the morning and work at their various jobs in the afternoon. Many students find that the jobs in which they are placed through D. E. are jobs with a future.

Library Assists Students in Finding Information

Since reading is one of the basic tools of learning, it is essential in the study of any subject. The library plays an important role in assisting the students in developing this basic tool of learning. Here, students are encouraged to seek out new information to add to the knowledge gained in their classes as well as reading for their own pleasure.

For class assignments Phil Hager finds the dictionary a useful aid.

Marilyn Turner devotes her study period to helping Miss Elrod decorate the library bulletin board.

Library assistant, Betty Jane Gusler, helps Ruth Gibbs check out a reference book for her history report.

Our guidance counselor, Mrs. Ross, explains to "Sock" Merriman, Connie Thornton, Mac Campbell and Aldah Myers the importance of exact timing when giving the state and national tests.

Guidance Insures Counseling for All Students

Mrs. Ross helps Bruce Young plan his schedule for '62.

Much help is available to the students of Fieldale High from the guidance director in making proper adjustments to high school situations and intelligent preparations for the future. Through the year she engages in individual counseling, group counseling, and schedule planning. She administers tests of different types, helps students in using college catalogues and selecting vocations, makes known scholarship opportunities, distributes college board examination applications, and holds conference with parents.

More students each year take advantage of this phase of our school program.

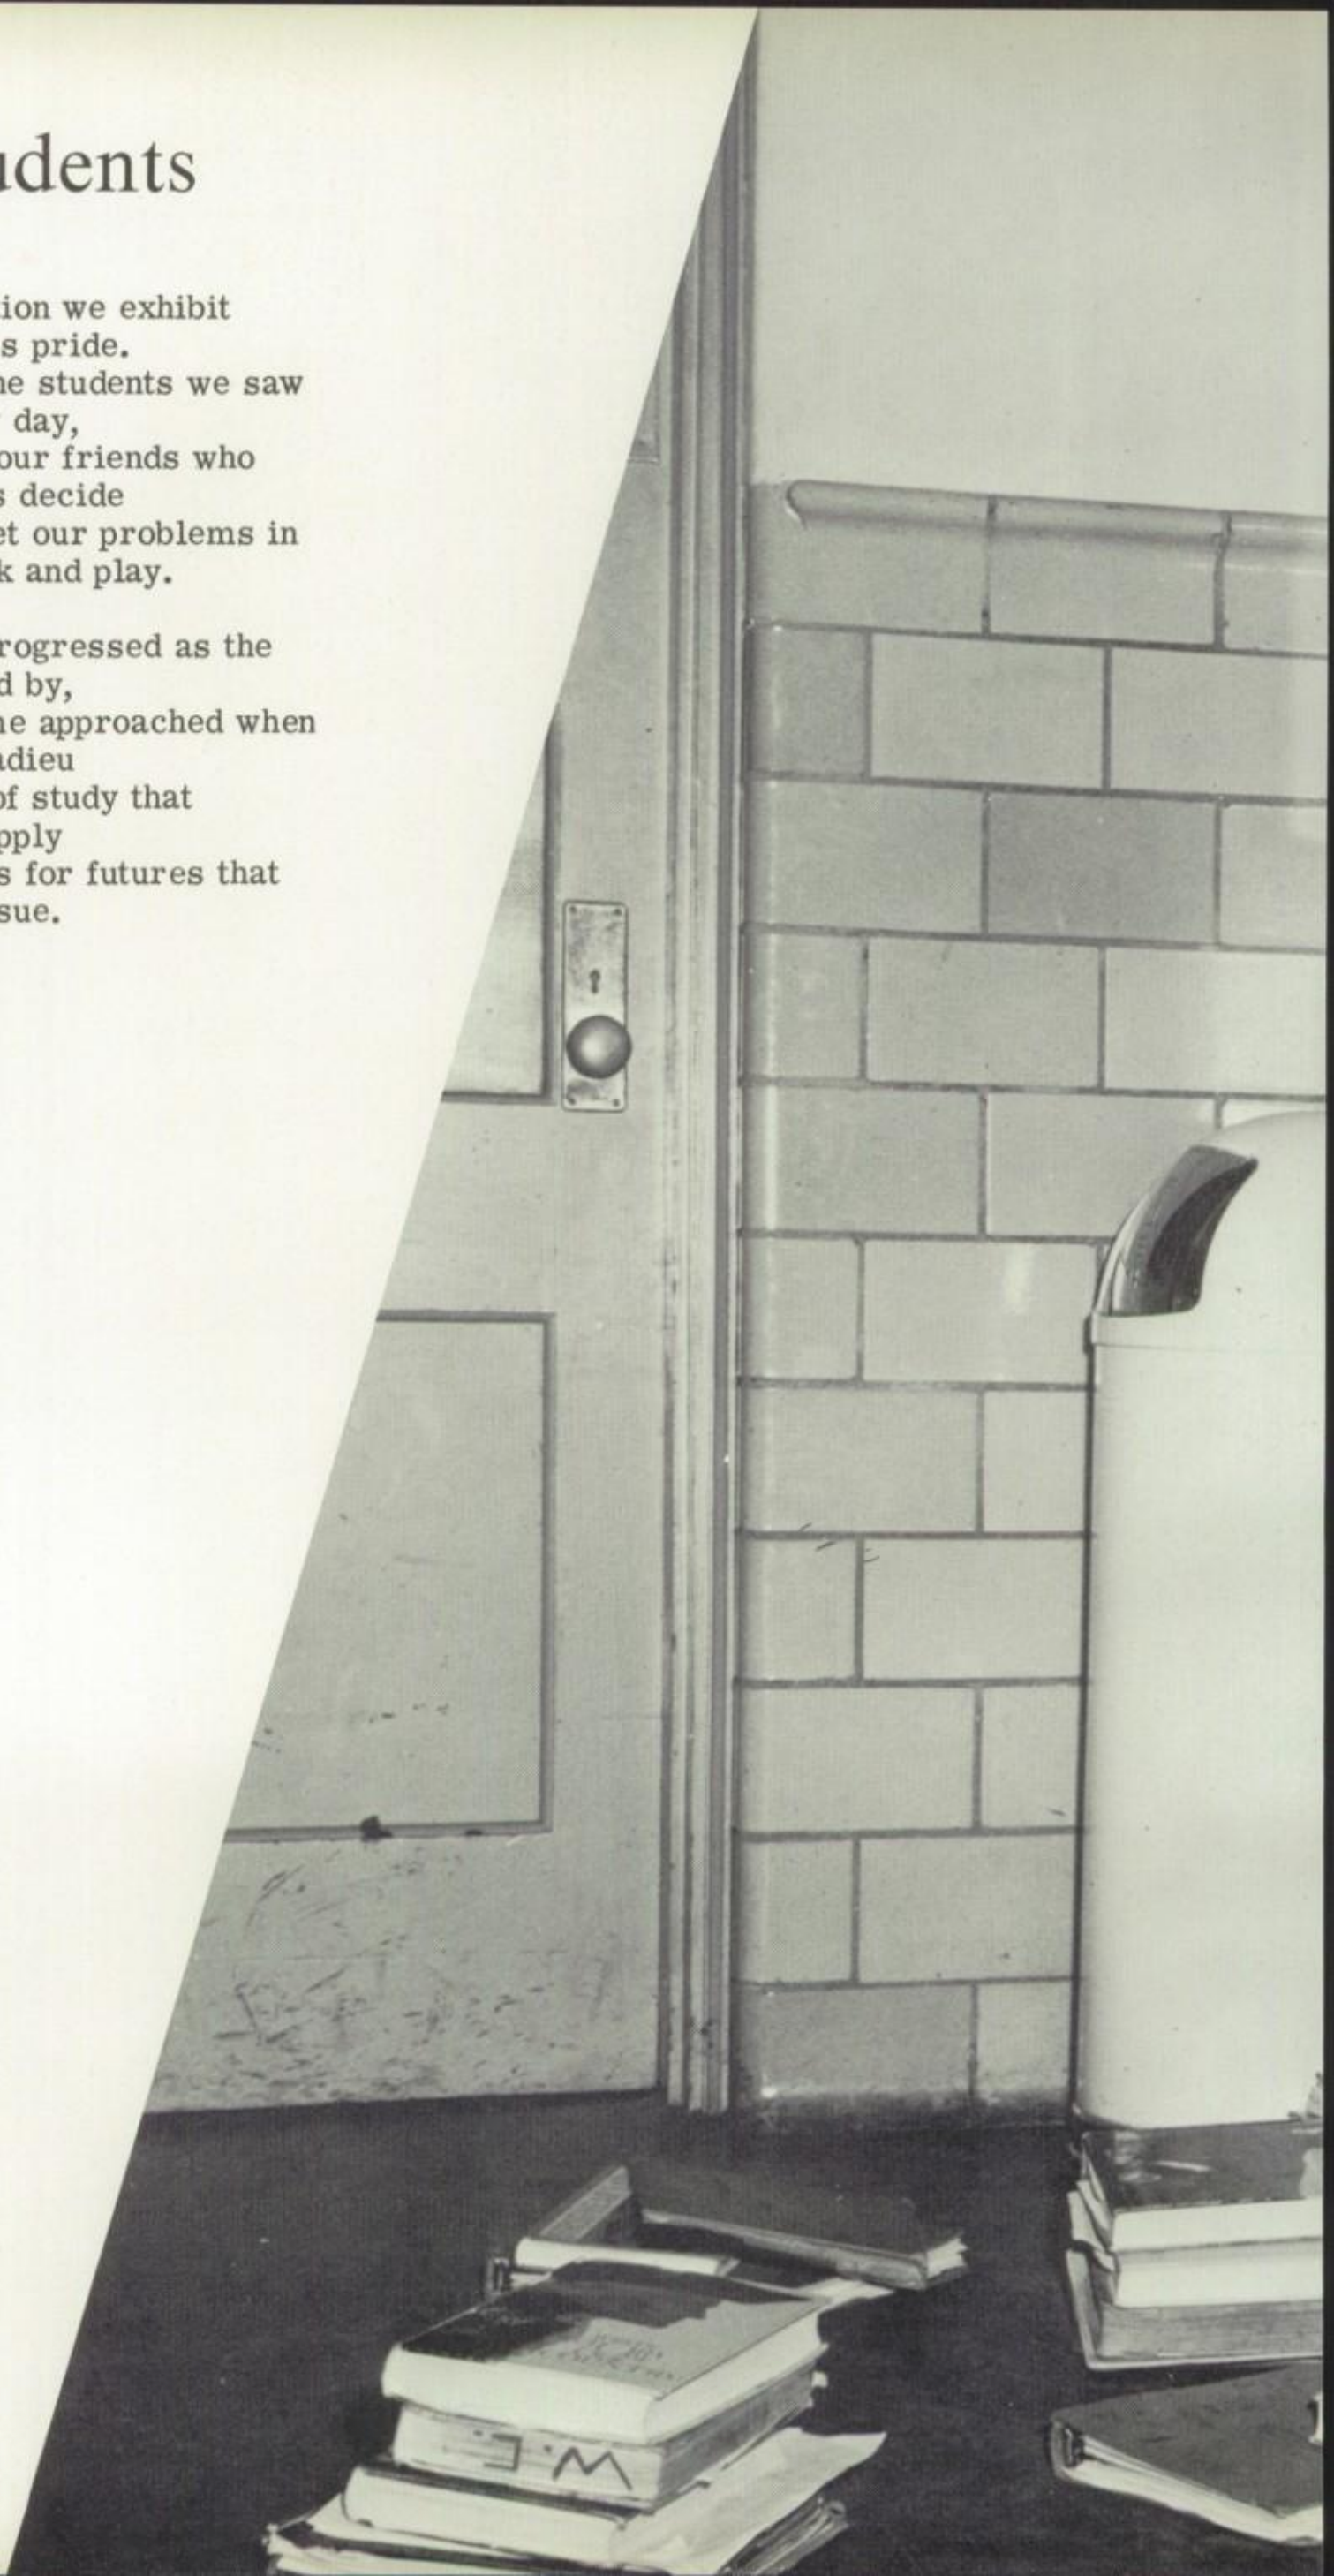

Shelby Isley takes advantage of the more than ample supply of college catalogues found in the guidance department.

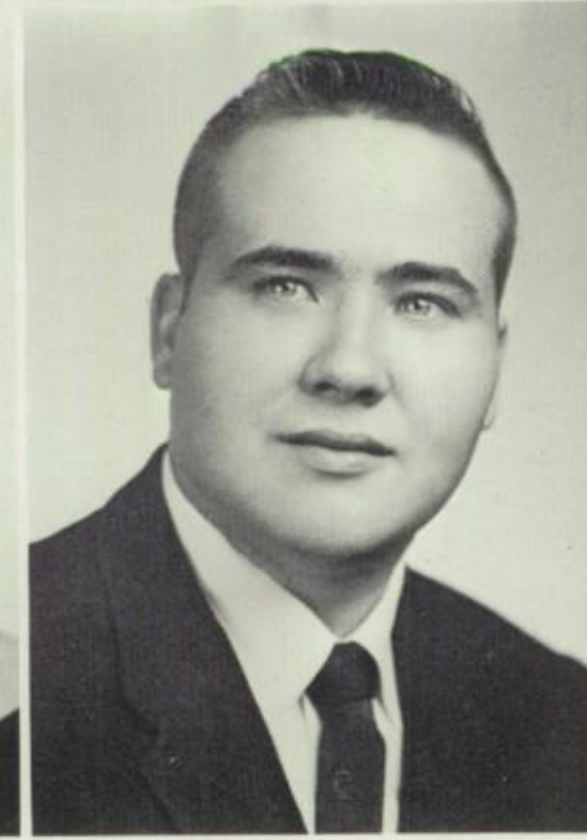

Students

In this section we exhibit
Fieldale's pride.
Here are the students we saw
each new day,
These are our friends who helped us decide
How to meet our problems in both work and play.

Each one progressed as the days sped by,
And the time approached when we said adieu
To a year of study that would supply
Foundations for futures that would ensue.

Projects Benefit School and Community

Of all the school organizations, probably the most useful to both the student body and faculty is the Student Co-operative Association, popularly known as the S. C. A. While the S. C. A. is involved in many phases of school activities, its most significant function is to promote co-operation between the students and faculty.

The S. C. A. Council is made up of those students selected as representatives of their homeroom or club, who are able to maintain at least a C average. An alternate is also chosen in case of absence of the representative.

The group undertakes several projects each year which are considered to be beneficial to both the school and the community. This year the S. C. A. sponsored the Cancer Drive, Christmas Cheer, CARE, and the Cripple Children's Relief Fund. Another project is the purchase of both National and State flags to be displayed in the auditorium. Signs indicating fire exits have been made and placed above each door which would most effectively provide an exit in case of an emergency.

In order to carry out the yearly activities, the S. C. A. meets twice a month.

At the beginning of the school year, assembly is led by S. C. A. president, Mary Jane Lawless.

Another project of the S. C. A. is Christmas Cheer, which aids the community through the generous giving of the student body.

Orientation day, sponsored by the S. C. A. in the spring, helps future eighth graders become acquainted with their new environment.

Each six weeks Becky Barnard is responsible for posting the names of the people who made the Honor Roll.

FOURTH ROW: Donna Daniel, Linda Hagood, Benny Lee Via, Jackie Fudge, and Sammy Venable.

Club Sponsors Homecoming and Beauty Pageant

With its purpose being the promotion of scholarship, leadership, and character, the Beta Club is the only organization at Fieldale High to which members must receive an invitation. To receive an invitation, a student must have at least a 90 average and possess a commendable character. Members are received and initiated in the beginning of their junior year.

With the help of the sponsor, Mrs. Fuller, the club activities include sponsoring the homecoming, the beauty pageant, and the annual signing party. Also, at the end of the year the club presents an award to the student with the highest scholastic average in each of the five grade levels.

Club members attended the annual State Beta Club Convention. Roanoke was the convention city this year.

Margie Barnard and Irene Hedgecock enjoy fixing the bulletin board for which the club is responsible once a year.

It was a delightful experience to these juniors with an average of 90 or above when they were invited to join the club.

Co-operative Workers Make Good Yearbook Staff

Preparations for the publication of the FIELDCREST are always extensive and require a great deal of incentive and responsibility on the part of the staff members. Plans and work on this edition began last year immediately after the '61 yearbook went to the printer. The result of this planning and working together, mixed with enjoyment and pride, is your '62 FIELDCREST.

During the Monday night staff meetings, members carried out the duties assigned to them. A layout plan was established and a dummy copy made. Group pictures were taken early in the fall and pictures of school events were taken as they happened during the year. Ads were solicited, some before school started and some after; records of finances were maintained. Copy editors found their job practically endless, and typing and proofreading was done and redone. Many, many hours were spent in completing the book, and now the staff hopes you will enjoy the fruit of their labor.

We would like to say "Thank you" to all who helped, even in the smallest way, to make this edition possible. We sincerely hope that it serves as a record of the year's achievements and a means of glimpsing back over the things you did in '62.

Miss Nan Thompson, Advisor
Donna Daniel, Staff Poet

Identifying pictures and taking snapshots are the duties of the picture editors, Left to Right: Kitty Kasey, Marilyn Setliff, Selda Daniels, Ronnie Brown, Mike Fulcher, and Terry Steele.

Rebecca Prillaman, Carol Smith, and Jackie Fudge, feature editors, organize important happenings throughout the year.

Typists Jenna Lou Compton, Nancy Hancock, Judy Simons, and Shelby Isley work diligently to get the copy ready for the printer.

Band secretary, Diane Tilley, and president, Danny Hopkins, take time out from band practice to pose with their director, Mr. Zimmerman.

Band Consists Mostly of Beginning Musicians

The Fieldale High School Band consists of three seniors, four juniors, nine sophomores, ten freshmen, and ten eighth graders. The band is made up mostly of beginning musicians, and fortunately only three will be lost through graduation this year. Approximately twelve new band members are expected to come from the elementary school next year.

In '62 the band participated in Band Day at Charlottesville, the Dogwood Festival at Vinton, the Fieldale and Martinsville Christmas parades, and entertained at assembly programs.

Pompon Girls Add Extra Spark to Band

During band practice, Mr. Zimmerman instructs Alan Brymer on the music to be played on Band Day.

The brass section of the band, made up of Neil Stultz, Johnny Hollandsworth, Harold Martin, and Dale Byrd, practices the solo parts for Mr. Zimmerman.

F. T. A. Members Plan to Become Teachers

The Future Teachers of America Club is limited to those students who intend to enter the field of teaching. Members of the club strive to set a good example in citizenship and to maintain a high scholastic record. Activities of the club this year consisted of entertaining the teachers at a faculty tea and sponsoring the faculty basketball and softball game.

At the tea sponsored by the future teachers, Joan Turner and Donna Daniel serve tea to Mrs. Rives and Miss Elrod.

Mrs. Ross talks to the student body at the assembly program given by the Future Teachers of America.

Before Easter, Joyce Zeigler addresses envelopes for the Crippled Children's Drive.

The purpose of the Future Business Leaders of America is to develop business leadership and to participate in worthy undertakings in the improvement of business and the community.

The week before exams, the FBLA members completed a service project of typing for the faculty. They also addressed envelopes for the Easter Seal Drive. In March, the members enjoyed the State FBLA Convention at Radford.

F. H. A. Presents Program on Civil Defense

During the F.H.A. assembly program, Nellie Sue Harris performs with a piano selection.

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization whose members are home economics students. Their motto is "Toward New Horizons," and they live up to this motto by trying to move upward and onward through participation in projects. Throughout the year, they help a "Little Sister" who is an underprivileged grade school child. They have projects in civil defense, correspond with penpals abroad, and correspond with people in homes of the aged in order to carry out their project of promoting good will at home and abroad.

Each summer, one member attends the state F.H.A. convention, usually held for several days at Hotel Roanoke. Also, members who wish to can attend the FFA-FHA camp for a week at Smithfield, Virginia.

Mr. Clay Easterly, Civil Defense Co-ordinator, explains the purpose and need of fallout shelters at the F.H.A. sponsored assembly.

Outstanding club member, Mickey Joyce, checks the oil in a motorist's car while performing his job as a service station attendant.

D. E. Members Compete in Convention Contests

Members of the Distributive Education Club take tours, hold contests and attend conventions. Both the district and state conventions were held in Roanoke, Virginia. At these conventions, the students competed in sales judging, ad layout, window judging, and professional selling contests. The members toured the MARTINSVILLE BULLETIN newspaper offices' and they took field trips in Martinsville to observe the displays in the store windows.

Stimulating interest in the athletic program from the standpoint of the students in school and the people in the community was the main activity of the Booster Club. The members tried to boost the spirit of the students toward supporting the school teams. Two outstanding projects of the organization was a candy selling campaign to raise money for sports equipment and the publicizing of home games through posters.

Spanish Club Serves Spanish Meal

Through the Spanish Club, students are given a chance to further their study of Spanish and to gain a better understanding of the Spanish speaking countries. At their club meetings, members listen to Spanish records, learn new songs, and play games such as caracoles and Spanish crossword puzzles. In the spring, the club planned and served a Spanish meal for all the members.

Boosters Stimulate Interest in Athletics

4-H Members Total 23

Health, heart, head and hands--these four H's are the symbols of the 4-H Club. The 23 members work toward developing abilities of clear thinking, efficient working, and clean living. Through their projects, they are trained in such fields as soil improvement, dairy judging, and poultry demonstrations.

Industrial Arts is Supplement to Class Work

Providing an opportunity to apply mental and manual logic is accomplished through the Industrial Arts Club, which is divided into a junior club and a senior club.

Those students having at least two years of shop or drawing and are interested in furthering their classwork are eligible for membership in the Senior Industrial Arts Club. For their project for '62 the club repaired damaged desks throughout the school.

The Junior Industrial Arts Club is open to those taking first-year shop or drawing. For their project plans are being made to erect a sign on the front lawn of the school

Visual Aid Members Operate Equipment

In '62 the Visual Aids Club made its appearance as a new club. Members have an interest in working with the audio-visual aids equipment of the school. With the help of the sponsor, Miss Elrod, student operators are trained to utilize this equipment.

The club members then offer their assistance in preparing the audio-visual materials and in operating the machines.

Library Club Members are Library Assistants

Opportunity for service to the school is offered through the Library Club, consisting of library assistants who help Miss Elrod, the librarian, during their study periods. They prepare books for circulation, and help other students find the books and information for which they are looking.

Their program themes are aimed at encouraging reading for both members and the student body and for the improvement of reading habits. They observed Book Week by a display on the large bulletin board in the hall and by distributing book markers to the student body. Other projects consisted of purchasing plastic book covers and regular displays of attractive bulletin boards in the library.

Girls' Vocal Ensemble Rehearse on Own Time

The Vocal Ensemble is composed of 23 girls who have volunteered to organize and rehearse on their own time. It was formed so that talented girls who were not able to schedule choral music might still be able to attain this valuable experience and training in singing.

Music Study Members are Eager to Learn More

In the Music Study Club, members find an opportunity for broadening their appreciation of music. Members just enjoy listening to good music and are eager to learn more about the history and the various types of music. The club's project for '62 was to co-sponsor the homecoming dance.

Dramatic Club initiations put Mary Jane Lawless and Jimmy Curry on the spot.

Learning to perform with confidence before an audience, to use stage make up, to work together in front of the lights and behind the scene--these are a few of the reasons for the existence of the Dramatic Club, sponsored by Miss Knight. Upon becoming a member, one must participate in an initiation planned by the old members. The initiation is quite an interesting and hilarious event.

Besides aiding in the junior, senior, and one-act plays, the club's other projects are selling candy and sponsoring school dances.

In a skit given between acts, Jimmy Curry, Jimmy Stultz, Jimmy Crawford, and Tommy Joe Merriman have a clever game of cards and at the same time carry on the kind of conversation women would have.

During the initiation, the old members are questioning the new members of the Dramatic Club.

Latin Club Studies Romance Languages

Firefighters Ready in Case of Fire

The firefighters have not engaged in any activities for which everyone is thankful. However, they are ready at a moment's notice to help fight forest fires should the need arise.

The Latin Club was organized as an extra-curricular extension of an academic course. Because class time is insufficient for providing the Latin student with an adequate background of Roman life and time, the club meets this basic need through reports, discussions, and dramatizations. This year the club undertook a study of Romance languages in an attempt to see their relationship to their mother tongue Latin.

Athletics

This section is reserved for the world of sport--
Managers, coaches,
and the cheerleaders, too,
Who led the cheers
and urged support
For the players who fought for the White and the Blue.

Each player a hero
in his own way,
Whether we gained victory
or defeat,
'Til even our opponents
were heard to say,
"Such effort and spirit are hard to beat."

With the sound of the whistle, play begins for the Devils and Cave Springs' Knights as they anxiously await the tip off.

Through participation in sports, we learn not only physical co-ordination, but also good sportsmanship and a sense of fair play.

On basketball and baseball trips, players always try to show their best sportsmanship qualities because this plays a large part in the impression others have of our school.

Sportsmanship is Stressed in Basketball

Blue Devils Fight Courageously

This was one of those heartbreaking years for the Fieldale Blue Devils. Coach Eddie Rakes was faced with the problem of building a team with only three squad members returning from last year's team. Although the team's record wasn't up to par, each player put up a good fight. Expectations for next year are high.

Bobby Lucas, (20), and an unidentified Fieldale player double up on Cave Springs' player as he goes up for a shot.

Trying to block a shot, Wayne Joyce (24) wraps his arm around Cave Springs' player, while Bobby Lucas (20) is recovering the ball.

Seven Cheerleaders Boost School Spirit

Leading the student body in cheers at the basketball games and pep rallies, our seven cheerleaders are always trying to boost school spirit. These girls do a very fine job of representing our school on the court as well as at games away from home. They are chosen on the basis of physical co-ordination and neatness in appearance by the student body.

Our dependable timer and scorekeepers are always present at the games. Through their efforts an accurate record of each game is kept.

Comparing notes on the last game, boys' scorekeeper, Jimmy Stultz, explains the details to timer, Ronnie Brown, and girls' scorekeeper, Lynda Hagood.

Girls' Varsity Gains Invaluable Experience

Jumping high, "Trixie" Adams keeps the ball away from a Stuart forward.

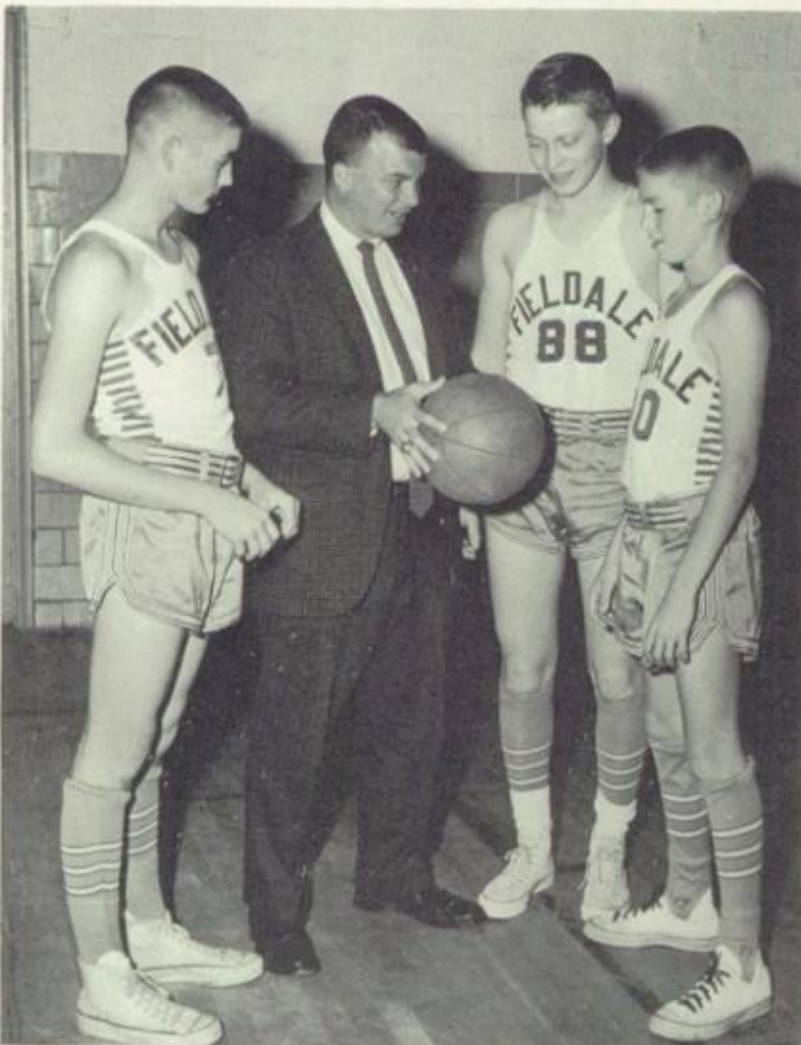

The girls' varsity basketball team was faced this year with the almost identical problem that faced the boys' team, only three returning members. Mrs. Frazier, their new coach, has worked hard trying to reorganize these girls. Although they failed to win a game this year, the experience which they have gained has been invaluable.

Junior Varsity Team is a Spirited Group

Material for future basketball teams is being trained now by Coach Slaughter on the junior varsity basketball team. These boys are a spirited group showing signs of becoming a splendid team in future years.

Receiving last minute instructions from Coach Jerry Slaughter are Mike Gilbert, Lloyd Brammer, and Mac Gordon.

Sports Shift to Baseball in Springtime

Strike is called as Frankie Barker swings and misses the ball during the Martinsville game.

Drawing back his arm, pitcher Bill Morton gets ready to fire the ball away.

Warmer weather brought another shift in the sports world for the Blue Devils. Baseball was the main attraction in the springtime. Moving outside, the boys practiced in the afternoon after school under the direction of coach Bobby Rakes and assistant coach Jerry Slaughter. Although the team almost had to begin from "scratch," the boys entered into play resolved to do their best.

Student Life

Sixty-two's highlights are featured here,
Events not bound by classroom walls--
Special occasions with memories dear
And each happy scene to our mind recalls--

The proms where we danced,
the queens we chose,
The plays produced, and
honors awarded.
And now, as the year draws to a close
Sixty-two's history is herein recorded.

Students Elect Judy Simons Pageant Madonna

On December 20, the student body had its annual "White Christmas" assembly program in which the Christmas story was portrayed. The entire school participated by bringing gifts of canned food for Christmas Cheer and placing them before the manger scene while the chorus sang Christmas carols.

The coveted and distinct honor of being Madonna went to Judy Simons. She was selected by the student body on the basis of her character and spiritual qualities.

The true spirit of Christmas was displayed by the students of Fieldale High School as they filed one by one onto the stage and gave to those who were less fortunate than they.

Judy Simons portrays the Virgin Mary in the Christmas pageant.

The choral music group sing Christmas carols for the "White Christmas" assembly.

Oliver McBride helps to pack the gifts to be taken to Christmas Cheer.

"Miss Fieldale" is Selected in Beauty Pageant

From a total of approximately 60 beautiful girls, Betty Lou Via is chosen Miss Fieldale for 1961. Her runner-ups were Brenda Martin, left, and Mary Jane Lawless, right.

Mrs. Fuller, director of the Beauty Pageant, shows Connie Thornton, a contestant, exactly where to stand when she comes out on the stage.

Amid tall white columns covered by vines depicting the theme, "Belles of the Centennial South," approximately sixty girls paraded before the judges at the 1961 Beauty Pageant.

There was much excitement in the audience as well as among the girls as the number of contestants grew smaller and smaller until there were only five left. Then came the awaited moment. First to be brought out on the stage was the second runner-up, Mary Jane Lawless; and next, the first runner-up, Brenda Martin. And finally came the grand finale when Betty Lou Via was escorted to the center of the stage and crowned "Miss Fieldale of 1961."

Homecoming Highlights Basketball Season

Although it was a gloomy day and the Blue Devils were defeated, Fieldale High's Homecoming was bright and gay. The highlight of the evening was the dance in the school cafeteria which was beautifully decorated. The Queen, was crowned during the dance and charmingly reigned over her subjects until midnight. Music was supplied by Eddie and the Playmakers, and doing the twist was the favorite dance of the evening.

Completing the queen's court are, left to right, Jackie Fudge, junior attendant; Kitty Kasey, sophomore attendant; Marlene Gregory, freshman attendant; Alice Haskins, eighth grade attendant.

A "Blue Devil," Johnny Mac Hundley, also attended the royal event.

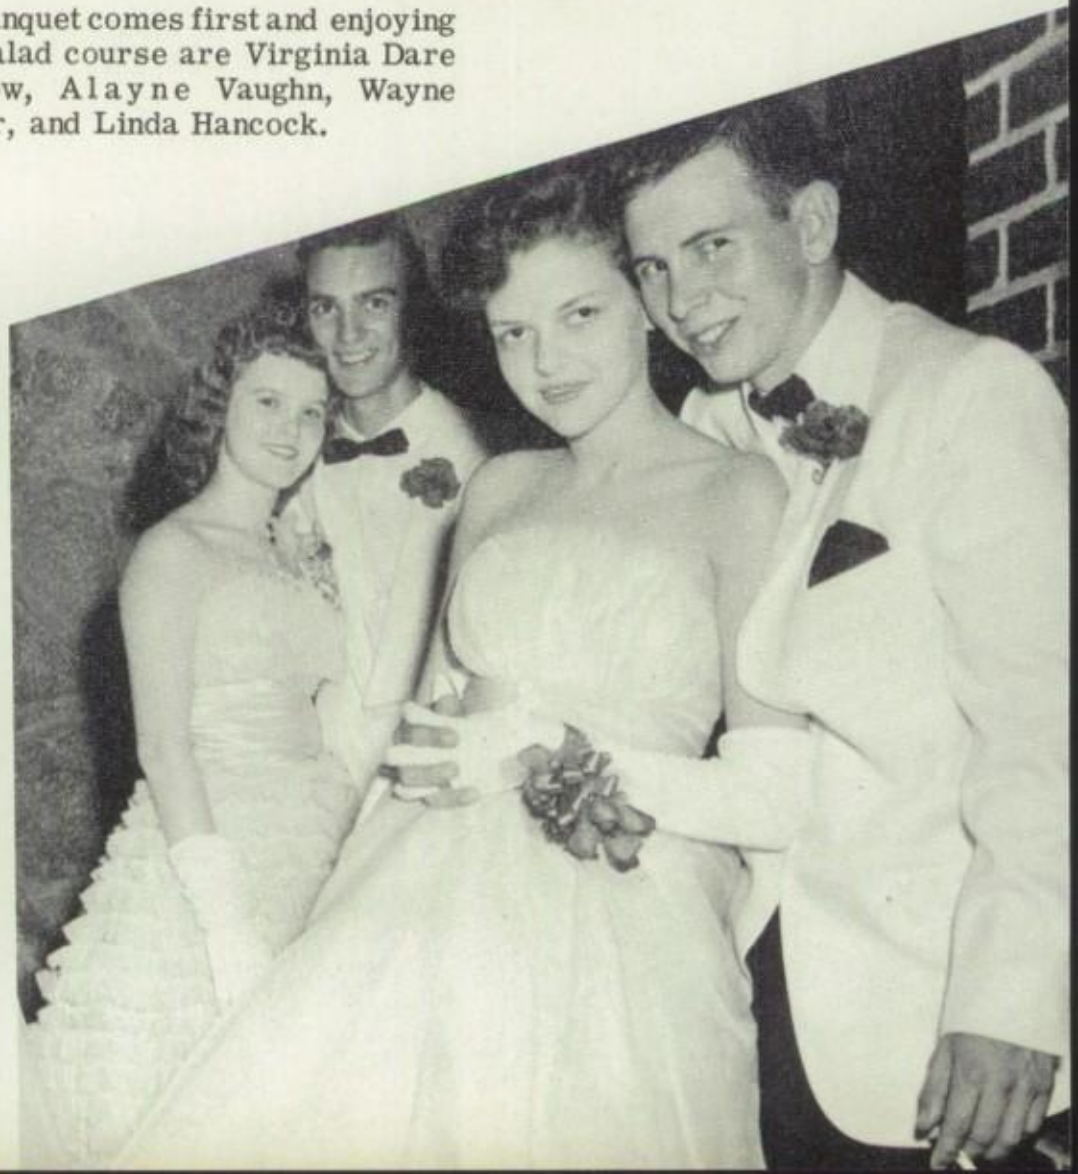

Formally dressed and anticipating a wonderful evening, juniors and seniors, with their dates, wait for the Prom to begin.

Whether dancing or watching others, the prom was a most enjoyable event.

During intermission Patsy Lackey, Doug Plaster, Joan Turner, and Jackie Palmer pose for a picture.

The banquet comes first and enjoying the salad course are Virginia Dare Whitlow, Alayne Vaughn, Wayne Luther, and Linda Hancock.

Theme of Prom is "Wish Upon a Star"

The long anticipated Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom was given the first week in May. The secrets the juniors had been keeping were revealed to the seniors in the beautifully decorated Hut Restaurant. With "Wish upon a Star" as the theme, the students and teachers enjoyed a delicious meal at the banquet and afterward danced to the delightful music of the Venturas.

As the chorus sang "Fieldale White and Blue," tears could be seen in the eyes of the seniors; but the sadness of that moment was soon forgotten because it was prom night, one of the happiest events of the year.

Mr. Ross peps things up with a little "rock and roll," but Mrs. Ross is not quite so sure that it is the thing to do.

Customarily before the banquet begins, the president of each class speaks. Jeannette Setliff, president of the junior class welcomes the Class of '61.

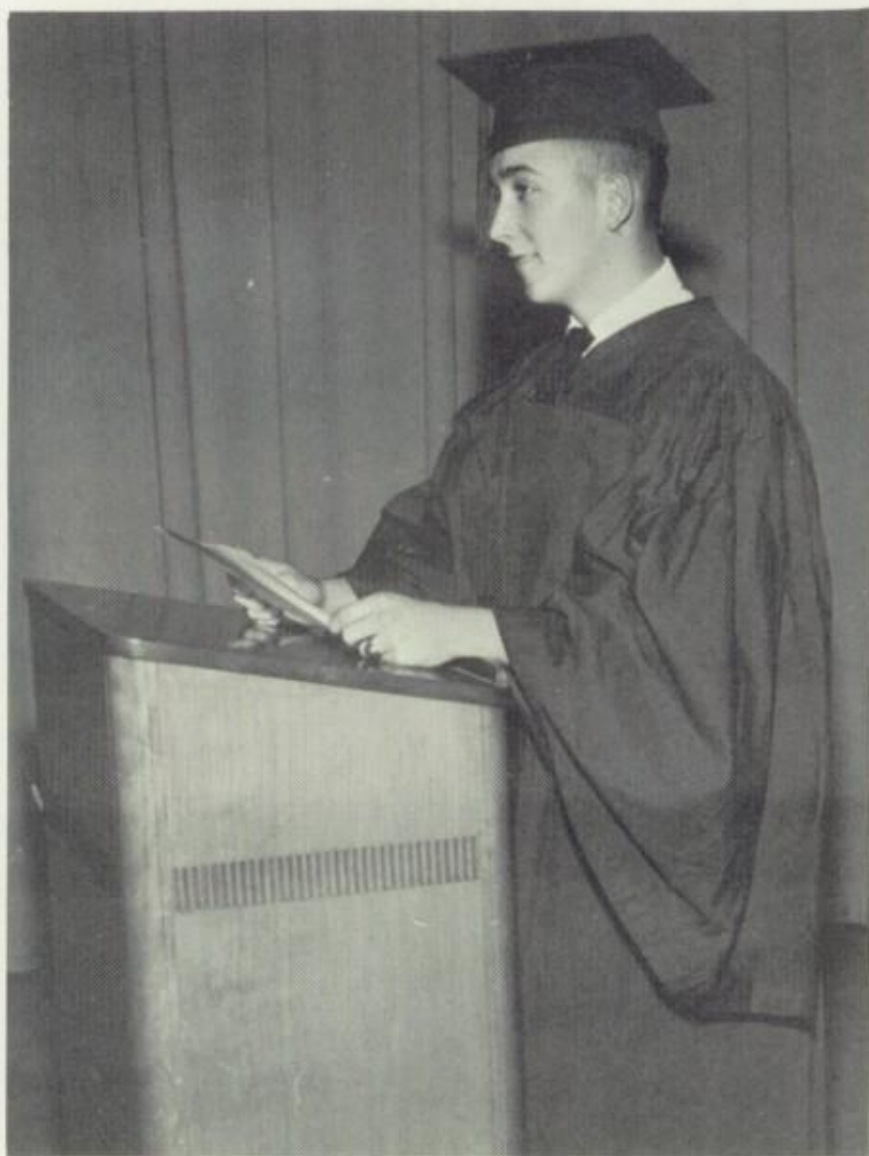

President Jim Stultz Speaks at Graduation

Commencement exercises were held on the evening of June 4 in the high school auditorium.

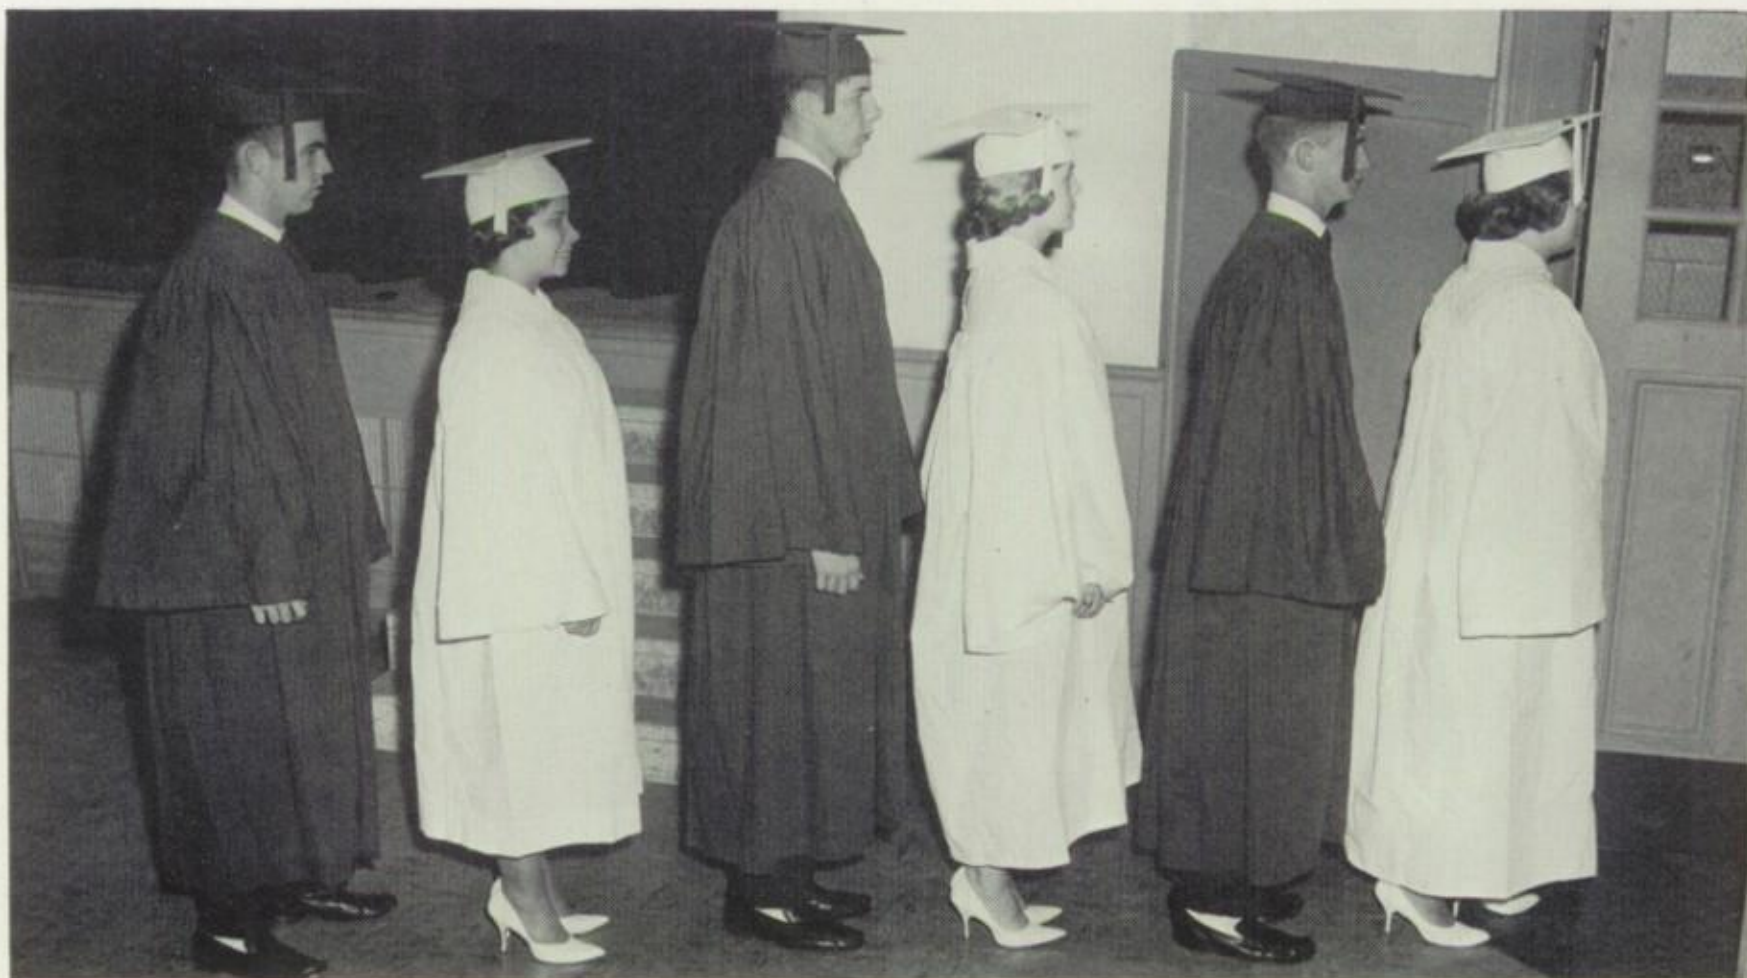

This ceremony is always an unforgettable thrill to those graduating as well as to others. Along with having friends and neighbors present is the excitement of receiving diplomas. These were presented to the seniors, at their request, by Mr. Iler. At this time, special recognition was given to the outstanding students.

The music for this traditional event was supplied by the high school band and the choral music group.

Graduation night, Jimmy Stultz gives the welcoming address as president of the Class of '62.

Seniors Receive Diplomas Culminating '62

The days passed by and the end came in view
For those who would graduate in sixty-two.
With combined efforts and zeal all year through,
Their achievements brought honor to the White and the Blue.

Class rings were received one October day,
And Seniors gave a dance for their display.
"Letters to Lucerne," the senior play,
Long will be remembered in a pleasant way.
With untiring effort and winsome appeal,
They surpassed their quota for the Bloodmobile.
Their entrance to assembly afforded a thrill,
And established a precedence long an ideal.

Now, wherever they wander, whatever they do,
They'll be remembered by each of you,
As dedicated students, kind and true,
The fifty-seven members of the Class of '62.

Happy to receive that long-worked-for diploma, Selda Daniel holds a fast grip on it as she shakes hands with Mr. Iler.

Showing delight upon reaching their goal, Marie Stegall, Jimmy Minter, Selda Daniel, Sock Merriman, and Irene Hedgecock congregate outside the auditorium after graduation. The tears come later.

Advertisers

On the following pages take a look
At those businesses and friends, who Advertised in our yearbook.

They showed their interests in us
And our school
by this kind act.
Without them alas
'tis true,
Certain funds
we would have lacked.

So buy from them
and say "Thank you,"
For what they did in '62.

THE TOWEL MILL OF FIELDCREST MILLS, INC.

Salutes the 1962 Graduating Class of Fieldale High School

The Management of the Towel Mill enjoys this happy occasion with you. We congratulate you on your past achievements and extend most sincere good wishes for your future success.

Whether you go on for further studies or go directly into your working career, may every fortune be yours.

GOOD LUCK, Class of '62!

FIELDCREST MILLS, INC.

Fieldale, Va.

Mr. D. A. Purcell, manager of Fieldcrest Mills, welcomes a visit of annual staff members to the mill. They are, left to right:

Irene Hedgecock, Selda Daniel, Mr. Purcell, Karen Moran, Connie Shelton, Betty Lou Via, and Jeannette Setliff.

A Special Thank You . . .

To the faculty and Mr. Iler for their patience during picture-taking days. The class interruptions were trying, we know.

To the students for their co-operation and support in all our undertakings.

To the advertisers, without whose assistance it would be impossible for us to publish THE FIELDCREST.

To our Delmar photographer, Max Ward, for his boundless energy in giving us the very best group and individual pictures possible.

To Martinsville Bulletin for being so kind in giving us pictures to use that appeared in the paper.

To all others who helped, in even the smallest way, to make this book possible.

This Fund, established by Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Keese, of Martinsville, Virginia, is in position to aid substantially a large number of boys and girls from Virginia and North Carolina who would like to be educated in Virginia Baptist schools and colleges. The Fund will also aid approved students for the ministry from Virginia or North Carolina who wish to study in any one of the three theological seminaries of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Financial aid is in the form of cash grants to those students who are entering or planning to enter the Baptist ministry or to engage in specific religious work for the Baptist denomination. To all others the aid extended is in the form of cash loans to be repaid with interest at low rates.

According to the will of Mr. Keese students from the Blue Ridge Association will have first consideration when applying for aid from this fund.

THE MOON...
*and beyond!

Bright, new horizons await today's students . . . new technologies . . . new medicines . . . even the moon and whatever lies beyond.

How far today's students go in this space age depends partly on their imagination but primarily on their training. Conquering new horizons will demand more of today's graduates — more knowledge, more skills, more training and more specialization.

Our Free Enterprise system, with its high living standards, gives everyone an opportunity to "shoot for the moon" in any field. Whether or not our target is reached depends on how well trained we are to launch ourselves.
